Nixon Vows Full Calif. Term If Elected, Raps Coast Mess

LOS ANGELES (AP)— Richard M. Nixon's decision to run for governor of California in 1962 —and not seek the presidency in 1964—provided alll the makings today for a slambang campaign.

The 48-year-old Republican who just missed the White House last year set a militant tone in his long - awaited announcement on Wednesday night. But so did his opponents, both Democratic and Republican.

Pledges Victory Campaign

Nixon sized up Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown as "that amiable but bungling man." He promised a campaign that would "beat Pat Brown to a pulp."

"The government, that State House in Sacramento, is in a mess and somebody has to clean it up," he told a televised news conference.

Stung by a question on his personal finances, Nixon said he had been threatened and warned that "every dead cat and every old story would be thrown up and used against me."

"Let me just say that nobody is going to frighten me. Nobody is going to drive me out of this contest."

Brown Welcomes Entry

Accepting Nixon's challenge, Brown declared his candidacy would galvanize majority Democrats into "a fighting crusade." Democrats hold a 1.4-million lead in registration.

"I welcome the opportunity to confront Richard Nixon in a campaign that once and for all will retire him to private life," Brown said in a press statement.

The governor said Nixon's announcement "means simply, that he will be a candidate for president again in 1964"—midway in the four-year state term.

Nixon said flatly, "I shall not seek the presidency in 1964," but he did not absolutely remove himself from another try.

He was asked whether he would make a Sherman-like statement that if nominated again in 1964 he would not accept.

No Party Comment

His reply: "This is the Nixon statement. It means just what it says. I shall not be a candidate in 1964 and I know that the people of America will take me at my word."

There was no immediate response from national GOP leaders to Nixon's decision to seek the governorship.

State Republican leaders, openly backing Nixon over three other announced GOP candidates, were plainly jubilant that he had agreed to run. But they faced the prospect of intraparty strife over the gubernatorial nomination.

Former Gov. Goodwin J. Knight gave notice he's in the GOP race to stay. So did the Assembly minority leader, Joseph C. Shell of Los Angeles. The fourth candidate, former Lt. Gov. Harold J. Powers, was unavailable for comment.

Could Be Nixon Draft

Rocky Not Taken In by Governor Plan

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller said today he has not eliminated former Vice President Richard M. Nixon as a potential candidate for the Republican nomination for president in 1964.

Of the possibility that Nixon's statement Wednesday night withdrawing from presidential competition had left Rockefeller a leading candidate, the governor said: "I really don't agree."

Not Saying Now

He said he would not make his own intentions regarding the GOP presidential nomination known until after his bid for re-election in New York state next year.

Rockefeller commented at a news conference. Most of the discussion concerned Nixon's announcement that he would run for governor of California next year and would not seek the presidency in 1964.

A draft, the governor said, "will always be a possibility."

Not Making Commitment

The governor said he did not feel himself under any moral compunction to pledge to serve four years as governor if re-elected, as Nixon did.

"I don't want to be committed," Rockefeller said.

He said he will campaign on behalf of Nixon in California gubernatorial race next year if Nixon asks him to, and if his own campaign for re-election is proceeding satisfactorily.

Rockefeller's own campaign for re-election is proceeding satisfactorily, he said.

Rockefeller was asked at the news conference whether he felt that Nixon's announcement had "effectively eliminated" the former vice president from consideration in 1964.

Not Jumping to Conclusion

"I wouldn't jump to that conclusion," the governor said.

Informed that Nixon had identified Rockefeller and Goldwater as "very active contenders" for the nomination, Rockefeller was Unable to agree after over six hours of deliberation, the jury which heard the evidence in the Hugh Mulligan grand larceny case was discharged from further deliberations at 9:55 p. m. Wednesday by County Judge Raymond J. Mino.

Mulligan, a former employe of the Numeric Arms Company of West Hurley, was charged by a grand jury with first degree larceny in which it was alleged he had taken gun parts valued at over $500 from the arms company between May and October 1960.

Mulligan, a resident of Saugerties, denied he had taken the parts and produced evidence indicating he had purchased the parts from the company. They were unable to produce sales slips.

Home Builders to Adopt Official Shelter Plans

KIAMESHA LAKE — Specific details of a comprehensive, officially-approved program for construction of shelters to protect families against radio-active fallout were to be spelled out here today, Friday and Saturday during the ninth annual convention-exposition of the 3,000-member New York State Home Builders association.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, FHA Commissioner Neal J. Hardy, Lt. Gen. F. W. Farrell, director of the State Civil Defense Commission, and Leonard L. Frank, first vice president of the National Association of Home Builders were scheduled to present official views on the subject. Other details are to be filled in by a panel composed of a banker, a military affairs expert, a nuclear engineer, and an architect.

"By the time the convention ends on Sunday," said Eugene Ellish, of Rockland County, general convention chairman and a vice president of the state's home builders," we expect to be ready with a concrete, officially-approved program for protecting the people of this state from radioactive fallout from nuclear explosions."

"Details spelled out here," he continued, "will climax two years of effort by the New York State Home Builders Association to obtain authoritative, coordinated and specific information on proper methods of constructing home fallout shelters."

"Although the state's organized builders, as long ago as 1959," Ellish explained, "recognized their responsibility as the only industry qualified to construct approved-type shelters, we have not been able to proceed intelligently. Until now, various agencies have disagreed somewhat on technical details and other phases of this vital matter. These disagreements have now been cleared away."

Saturday evening in a major address, Governor Rockefeller is scheduled to present his views on the subject. Rockefeller, together with nine other governors, attended a Defense Department conference in Washington which

Kremlin to Push Cure-All

8-Point Program Is Old Line

Move Is Designed To Counter Peace Aims of Kennedy

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The Soviet Union sought today to counter President Kennedy's peace appeal with an eight-point program billed as a cure for international tensions.

The Soviet proposals—mainly a restatement of earlier ones put out by the Kremlin—were submitted to the U.N. Wednesday night with two other memoranda dealing with the nuclear test issue and colonialism.

Old Favorites

The eight-point plan, promised by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko's policy when he spoke to the General Assembly Tuesday, included such Kremlin favorites as:

A nonaggression pact between the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the Warsaw powers, renunciation of use of atomic weapons, withdrawal of foreign troops from alien soil and measures to lessen the danger of surprise attack.

Kennedy's statement to the United Nations Monday on "general and complete disarmament in a peaceful world" contained several ideas which U.S. officials said could be acted on at once. They included an offer to sign a nuclear test ban treaty.

The Soviet memorandum on nuclear testing ignored this. It repeated Soviet insistence that "under the present conditions its proposal to resolve the question of a nuclear test cessation on the basis of general and complete disarmament is the sole correct and practical suggestion."

The Soviet memorandum on colonialism would set up a U.N. committee to supervise and control all colonies and dependent territories.

This document, which ran nearly 6,000 words, portrayed the United States as the master mind behind the colonial powers and accused the Americans of pushing colonial schemes of their own.

Red's Arms Program

The latest Soviet arms program emphasized these main points:

Rusk Still in Dark Whether Reds Plan Berlin Compromise

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

NEW YORK (AP)—Seven days and two meetings after the start of his talks with Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, Secretary of State Dean Rusk does not know whether the Soviet government has any intention of negotiating a compromise settlement of the Berlin crisis.

But he still hopes to find out and will make another attempt Saturday morning.

Playing Classic Game

Gromyko for his part appears to be playing the classic game of Soviet diplomacy. In private talks he is sticking to the hard line of public statements by Premier Khrushchev for a change in the status of West Berlin. If he intends to give ground in order to get agreement on negotiations, he is expected to wait as long as possible while pressing Rusk for all possible concessions.

It is now apparent that both Rusk and Gromyko are as interested in sounding each other out on the results of possible negotiations as they are in finding a formula to get negotiations started.

Testing Pressure

Rusk wants to know, for example, what guarantees Khrushchev means to offer when he talks of "guaranteed access" to West Berlin after he signs a peace treaty with Communist East Germany.

Gromyko evidently is trying to determine whether the Western powers can be pressured into modifying their Berlin stand to accommodate some or all of Khrushchev's demands.

The two men first met a week ago when Rusk invited Gromyko to lunch. They talked for 4½ hours. They met a second time Wednesday when Rusk went to lunch with Gromyko at Soviet headquarters in a brick and stone mansion on Park Avenue. They were together four hours.

Mum on Progress

When Rusk emerged, accompanied by Gromyko, he said the two had a "very good lunch and a very good talk." He declined to say whether any progress had been made toward agreeing on negotiations, saying only: "We'll see." Both men, who appeared relaxed and smiling, said they had agreed to meet again Saturday.

$94,350 Request Filed

Sum to Start Rondout Urban Plans

Copies of the city's formal application for $94,350 to launch retailed planning of a first urban renewal project in the Rondout area were filed in New York by Mayor Edwin F. Radel.

The city, said the Housing and Home Finance Agency, also asks for an urban renewal federal sum of $4,343,700. The mayor conferred with Lester Eisner of the HHFA.

Designated as "Broadway East" the project is to be planned for a site between lower Broadway and Hasbrouck Avenue. The Common Council on Sept. 21 adopted local legislation required for filing application for the federal sum. A copy of the city's bid for the money will also be filed with James William Gaynor, Commissioner of the New York State Division of Housing.

The Project includes a 105-acre site, 1½ miles southeast of Kingston's central business district.

It is a predominantly residential area containing 565 buildings of which 308 are substandard.

Present plans call for the city to demolish the sub-standard buildings and conserve and rehabilitate the others. The completed urban renewal area will also include improved community facilities such as new schools, streets, parks and playgrounds.

The Broadway East Project is the first stage of a 10-year program to revitalize the Rondout section of Kingston.

Revolt Is Regarded As Serious

Phone Links Out, Damascus Street Fighting Erupts

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Army officers in Syria mutinied today in an apparent attempt to break away from Gamal Abdel Nasser's three-year-old United Arab Republic.

Nasser called the revolt more serious than the 1956 British-French-Israeli invasion of Egypt.

A few hours after Damascus radio proclaimed the revolt, a communique broadcast from the Syrian capital indicated opposing military factions might attempt to negotiate.

Rebels Meet Amer

It said the revolutionary command had met with Field Marshal Abdel Hakim Amer, the Egyptian who commands all U.A.R. forces, and worked out an understanding. Damacus broadcasts said the situation had returned to normal, but did not explain what that meant.

Cairo newscasts ignored the communique, however, leaving in doubt whether anyone had yet gained a victory.

Fighting was reported to have taken place in Damascus streets. Telephone communication with Damascus was cut immediately after the revolt broke out. Gates clanged shut at the Lebanese-Syrian border.

Breaks With Nasser

The revolt broke out only two days after Abdul Hamid Serraj, a former Syrian intelligence chief with strong man ambitions, broke with Nasser and returned to Damascus from Cairo, where he had been a vice president in the U.A.R. government.

His resignation left but one Syrian in a high post in the U.A.R. government, emphasizing Egyptian predominance in the union of the two countries proclaimed in February 1958.

Serraj was reported to have resented being "kicked upstairs" to the vice presidency last month, because it involved a loss of power in Syria and a corresponding increase in authority for his rival, Amer.

It was not yet clear what role, if any, Serraj played in the revolt.

Says Situation Normal

In what was called a "United Arab Republic broadcast," Damascus radio said the situation returned to normal "because of the wisdom" of Amer and Gen. Gamal Feisal, the Syrian army commander.

With his prestige and authority seriously challenged, President Nasser ordered the 15,000 Egyptian soldiers in Syria to crush the uprising.

Grieving that "Arab blood will be shed by Arabs," he said in a broadcast from Cairo- "it is impossible that I could join the enemies of nationalism and an-

New License System Is Success, Says Bureau

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The State Motor Vehicle Department terms its new electronic licensing system a success, despite "some minor difficulties."

A department spokesman said precision machinery in the streamlined system, which employs punch cards, IBM machines and an electronic brain, functioned smoothly, but this was not always true of the people in the system.

One of the "minor difficulties" was that 55,000 of the punch-card, license-renewal forms which had been mailed out last month to motorists whose licenses expire Saturday, had been returned as undeliverable and had not been claimed.

Some of the motorists named on these forms, the spokesman said, have died or moved out of the state or changed their addresses within the state.

Those still living within the state will find themselves without a valid license after Saturday, unless they visit their nearest motor vehicle office before the deadline.

The department, the spokesman said, was considering extending a grace period to some of these motorists who have made an effort to get their licenses renewed and have a valid reason for not having succeeded before the deadline.

Such a grace period, he said, probably would be extended on an individual basis.

Another problem that arose, the spokesman said, was that many license holders were mailing their renewal forms directly to the de-

Students Protesting Nuclear Tests Egged on Cornell Site

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP)—A band of Cornell University students, including a freedom rider, ignored showers of firecrackers and eggs to protest today against nuclear testing.

The demonstrators, ringed around a sign proclaiming "Vigil Against Fallout" in the middle of the Cornell campus, were pelted Wednesday night with firecrackers and then with eggs.

No injuries were reported.

Charles Haynie, a graduate student from Queens who was jailed in Jackson, Miss., as a freedom rider, said one of the persons who threw the eggs yelled something about Communism.

"We are protesting Communist bomb testing," Haynie said.

The group, fortified with blankets and coffee, spent the night in temperatures that dipped toward the 40s.

About 15 of the students had been around the sign since the demonstration began at 10 a.m. yesterday. They refused to study, eat or attend classes.

Other undergraduates attended their classes and then returned to the circle formed on the college common.

Haynie, a graduate student, said he intended to teach the two classes he has scheduled for today and then return.

Mum on Progress

When Rusk emerged, accompanied by Gromyko, he said the two had a "very good lunch and a very good talk." He declined to say whether any progress had been made toward agreeing on negotiations, saying only: "We'll see." Both men, who appeared relaxed and smiling, said they had agreed to meet again Saturday.

Sum to Start Rondout Urban Plans

Copies of the city's formal application for $94,350 to launch retailed planning of a first urban renewal project in the Rondout area were filed in New York by Mayor Edwin F. Radel.

The city, said the Housing and Home Finance Agency, also asks for an urban renewal federal sum of $4,343,700. The mayor conferred with Lester Eisner of the HHFA.

Designated as "Broadway East" the project is to be planned for a site between lower Broadway and Hasbrouck Avenue. The Common Council on Sept. 21 adopted local legislation required for filing application for the federal sum. A copy of the city's bid for the money will also be filed with James William Gaynor, Commissioner of the New York State Division of Housing.

The Project includes a 105-acre site, 1½ miles southeast of Kingston's central business district.

It is a predominantly residential area containing 565 buildings of which 308 are substandard.

Present plans call for the city to demolish the sub-standard buildings and conserve and rehabilitate the others. The completed urban renewal area will also include improved community facilities such as new schools, streets, parks and playgrounds.

The Broadway East Project is the first stage of a 10-year program to revitalize the Rondout section of Kingston.

Zoning Meeting At Mt. Marion Slated Monday

Residents of Mt. Marion area have been invited to attend an open discussion on zoning, sponsored by Mt. Marion Civic Association Monday, 8 p. m. at the old Mt. Marion School.

Speakers will be Saugerties Town Supervisor Peter M. Williams, Kingston Attorney S. James Matthews, and Robert S. Russell of the F. L. Russell Corporation, Saugerties.

Russell will outline building plans and describe the operation of the new Russell Corporation plant now under construction near the site of the Mt. Marion railroad station.

Fred Maurillo, vice president of the association, will preside in the absence of President John F. Roderer.

The Mt. Marion-Churchland area has had a great amount of industrial development in the past year. Three industries are currently building plants along the West Shore Division tracks of New York Central Railroad, adjacent to the Saugerties-Mt. Marion Road.

New License System Is Success, Says Bureau

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The State Motor Vehicle Department terms its new electronic licensing system a success, despite "some minor difficulties."

A department spokesman said precision machinery in the streamlined system, which employs punch cards, IBM machines and an electronic brain, functioned smoothly, but this was not always true of the people in the system.

One of the "minor difficulties" was that 55,000 of the punch-card, license-renewal forms which had been mailed out last month to motorists whose licenses expire Saturday, had been returned as undeliverable and had not been claimed.

Some of the motorists named on these forms, the spokesman said, have died or moved out of the state or changed their addresses within the state.

Those still living within the state will find themselves without a valid license after Saturday, unless they visit their nearest motor vehicle office before the deadline.

The department, the spokesman said, was considering extending a grace period to some of these motorists who have made an effort to get their licenses renewed and have a valid reason for not having succeeded before the deadline.

Such a grace period, he said, probably would be extended on an individual basis.

Another problem that arose, the spokesman said, was that many license holders were mailing their renewal forms directly to the de-

Students Protesting Nuclear Tests Egged on Cornell Site

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP)—A band of Cornell University students, including a freedom rider, ignored showers of firecrackers and eggs to protest today against nuclear testing.

The demonstrators, ringed around a sign proclaiming "Vigil Against Fallout" in the middle of the Cornell campus, were pelted Wednesday night with firecrackers and then with eggs.

No injuries were reported.

Charles Haynie, a graduate stude from Queens who was jailed in Jackson, Miss., as a freedom rider, said one of the persons who threw the eggs yelled something about Communism.

"We are protesting Communist bomb testing," Haynie said.

The group, fortified with blankets and coffee, spent the night in temperatures that dipped toward the 40s.

About 15 of the students had been around the sign since the demonstration began at 10 a.m. yesterday. They refused to study, eat or attend classes.

Other undergraduates attended their classes and then returned to the circle formed on the college common.

Haynie, a graduate student, said he intended to teach the two classes he has scheduled for today and then return.

Cop in Daring Rescue of Girl

NEW YORK (AP) —A policeman swinging from a rope made a daring rescue Wednesday of a 10-year-old girl as she was about to fall from a fourth-floor fire escape landing.

The girl, Diosa Monponte, who has been under psychiatric treatment, climbed through the window of her family apartment and balanced on the fire escape's outer guard railing.

The child ignored all attempts to talk her in.

As a large crowd gathered on the street below, the fire department set up a net, and Patrolman Jack Leonard and several other policemen went to the roof of the building.

Leonard looped a rope around his waist and held the slack while his police companions held the end.

As Leonard saw the girl lean far over and start to lose her balance, he let go of the slack and dropped about five feet as the men on the roof braced themselves. Leonard was there when the child toppled backward, and he grabbed her. Both he and Diosa were then hauled inside.

The girl was taken to Bellevue Hospital for observation.

Has Suspicion About Number of Drinkers

LONDON (AP) — Dr. Donald Soper, ex-president of Britain's Methodist Conference, voiced the suspicion Wednesday that more than half the church members are drinkers.

He said he also has reason to believe that perhaps 30 per cent of Methodist preachers tipple a bit.

In an article in the church magazine Methodist Recorder Dr. Soper added: "I respect a minister who openly disagrees with teetotalism, and says so to his congregation. What bothers me is the parson who keeps his occasional glass to himself."

Sued for Taxes

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actors Eddie Albert and Rory Calhoun have been sued by the government for back income taxes. So was writer Adela Rogers St. John.

The Internal Revenue Service asked $7,131.65 from Albert and his wife, Margo, for 1958-59, and $27,890.29 from Calhoun and his wife, Lita, for 1960.

Miss St. John was sued for $1,630.45 representing 1960 taxes.

A religious exhibit will be on display in the sanctuary in connection with the 260th anniversary of the founding of the church. Quilts, household and farm implements will also be displayed. The Gazlay house, owned and occupied by Mrs. Maud Gazlay is built in part of Dutch brick brought over from Europe as ballast on sailing ships. The rear wall is of native stone. Has 104th Birthday

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Eighty-seven years of smoking apparently hasn't hurt Rocco Disderide. Anyway, his doctor says he doesn't need to quit.

Disderide puffed a slender cigar Wednesday as he observed his 104th birthday, and attributed his longevity to "not having worked very hard."

Democrats Pick Cavanagh to Take Over for DeSapio

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York County (Manhattan) Democratic Committee elected Fire Commissioner Edward F. Cavanagh Jr. as its chairman by acclamation and then went into a tumultuous session that lasted until 5 a.m. today.

The seven-hour meeting was marked by a brief flurry of fist-fighting in the front of the hall.

The committee adopted a package of changes in the rules which were designed to make the committee's operations more democratic and were fought for by the insurgent wing of the party.

Many of the old-line Tammany Hall members agreed to the insurgents' rules demands—in return for last-minute insurgent support of Cavanagh for chairman.

The Tammany Hall district leaders had picked Cavanagh, who is on leave as commissioner to serve as Mayor Robert F. Wagner's re-election campaign manager. Wagner worked hard for a truce between organization and insurgent leaders so as to get Cavanagh elected.

Cavanagh, who was elected late Wednesday night, took over from Carmine G. DeSapio, who had been chairman for six years. DeSapio became ineligible to continue when he lost his bid for re-election as a district leader in Greenwich Village in the Sept. 7 primary.

AIMED AT SPACE—A technician makes adjustments on a new battery-powered "plasma" engine prior to space chamber tests. The engine, designed for interplanetary spaceship and satellite use, is said to be capable of running for years through solar cell recharging. It gets its thrust from the high-velocity ejection of plasma (ionized gases) through the nozzle in the center. Its builder, Republic Aviation Corp., says it is the only electrical space engine able to operate now as it will when it flies in space.

Mitchell Points To Welfare Code As 'Home Rule'

PHILADELPHIA (AP) —The city manager of Newburgh, N.Y., says "local policy should rest with local elected officials."

Joseph McD. Mitchell, told the Delaware Valley Council's regional meeting for Montgomery County Wednesday night that, in effect, he is proposing home rule in welfare administration.

"The result will be government which people want, not government which the bureaucrats think the people want," said Mitchell, whose disputes with New York State officials over welfare have attracted national attention.

Mitchell said that welfare policies and theories of the "welfare bureaucracy" in state and federal governments "have contributed to the wreckage of a part of Newburgh, and I think you folk here in the Philadelphia area know what they have done to Philadelphia."

"It has been a positive factor in the rise of slums, in crime and violence, disease, illegitimacy and all that goes with slums," added Mitchell.

Mitchell said he told Newburgh's welfare officials that, if the welfare program "is contributing to the rise of slums, then they must change their policies in such a manner as to work with other departments of the city to stop this rise of slums."

"I was told very bluntly and time and again," he said, "that this was none of their business, that their mission was to work on individual cases and what happened to the city as a whole was not within their scope."

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, SEPTEMBER 28, 1961

AMENDMENT NO. 2

The form of submission of proposed Amendment No. 2, which will appear on the ballot at the general election November 7 is "Shall the proposed amendment to article five, sections two, three and four of the constitution in relation to the number and names of civil departments in the state government, be approved?

This would seem to be a part of the state government reorganization, which is designed to cut down the number of state agencies reporting directly to the Governor to a more manageable number of a modern department structure.

Proponents also say that the legislature would be empowered to adjust governmental structure of the departments from time to time to meet changing needs, in much the same way as congress may effect such changes in Federal departments.

Opponents say that the legislature may irresponsibly make changes which result in greater administrative expense. Existing departments not mentioned in the Constitution will be left defenseless before the legislature.

The committee on law reform of the New York Chamber of Commerce declares the amendment would facilitate reorganization of the executive branch of the government, a step which it said is not only desirable but necessary.

We believe this amendment is in the interest of all the people of the state.

DAG'S FAITH IN U.N.

The United Nations, its future imperiled as never before, may find the seeds of survival and new strength in the late Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold's final official testament to the U.N.'s overriding purposes.

With the frosty detachment and deliberately "gray" language which made him peculiarly the symbol of international impartiality, Hammarskjold in his last annual report sketched out two futures the U.N. might embrace.

In the one, the organization would serve mainly as an arena of competition, of intermittent conflict among the varying interests and ideologies of the West, the Communist bloc and the neutral or unaligned nations.

Though he never mentioned the Soviet Union by name, he made clear the Kremlin-sponsored proposal for a three-headed U.N. secretariat roots itself in this notion: that the U.N. is a kind of shifting battleground but nothing more.

The other future he foresaw—and the one he unmistakenly believed in—would make of the United Nations an arena of co-operation, an impartial ground above the struggle a fixed place with a life of its own, presided over— with steadily enlarging executive authority— by an independent secretariat devoted to the general world good.

Lofty as this may sound, no one who knew or dealt with Hammarskjold had any doubt that he worked for just these goals.

As a realist, he knew full well how deeply the U.N. is today embroiled in power politics and the problems of change. He declined therefore to brand it as a failure, saying "it would seem more correct to regard this as a failure of the world community."

The remedy he prescribed was for member nations jointly to "increase their efforts to make political realities gradually come closer to the pattern established by the U.N. charter."

To Hammarskjold that charter stood as a great, flexible, beckoning instrument capable of drawing most if not all the member states down the path of fuller co-operation.

In the charter he found positive, specific sponsorship of a wide range of economic and social activities aimed at the mutual betterment of the participating lands.

By his measure, the "competing interest" concept the Russians espouse is at opposite poles from this basic and highly promising charter objective.

'These Days'

INTERVENTION

Intervention has too long been the policy of the State Department. It has been a costly policy for the United States and has won us no friends in the world. In the topsy-turvy linguistics of our era intervention is called non-intervention, but nobody is mistaken as to what the process is.

Let me state it this way: the United States believes in certain, specific ideals of government and of human rights. The Declaration of Independence sets down in the clearest language our philosophy of government; the Constitution, including its numerous amendments, reduces the philosophic statement of government by choice to a workable system which provides us with a representative republic with numerous and specific limitations upon government and with a detailed statement of the rights of man. This form of government we regard as good and we strive to maintain it although sometimes it is very difficult.

Other peoples do not particularly care for our form of government. They find it confusing, almost to the degree of being anarchic. They prefer order; we prefer freedom. They look upon our freedom as disorderly, as lacking in manners and propriety. Some peoples prefer the despotism of dictatorship or the rule of an oligarchy. This, we do not understand. In fact, many of our people do not believe that any people can possibly prefer order to freedom. When we hear of such countries, we wonder what kind of people those are.

The Dominican Republic may be used as an example of what happens when dogmatism is applied to international relations.

The Dominican Republic was well-governed under the dictatorship of Trujillo. He called himself the benefactor and enriched himself, his family and his friends. But he produced an improved way of life for his people. Compared with other Latin American countries, the Dominican Republic was superior from every standpoint except one. The one exception was that Trujilllo was a dictator. The State Department does not tolerate dictators. But which government in Latin America has what we call a democracy?

Therefore the State Department intervened in the affairs of the Dominican Republic. The intervention went so far that we cut off diplomatic relations with the Dominican Republic. Trujillo was assassinated and an orderly country was thrown into chaos.

It will be protested that I falsely connect our cutting off diplomatic relations with the Dominican Republic and the assassination of Trujillo. I maintain that the two events are connected in the sense that the assassins must have assumed that they were pleasing the United States and would be duly rewarded when they set up a regime of their own. It is to be noted that Trujillo was assassinated after the United States cut off diplomatic relations.

As a result, the orderly, prosperous Dominican Republic has been thrown into chaos. A country that consistently supported American policy in the United Nations is no longer friendly to the United States. Unless our government changes its policy toward the Dominican Republic, the Communists, in a month or two, will take the place without the slightest resistance.

We intervened in Cuba and got rid of the dictator, Batista. We did everything possible to support Castro. Herbert Matthews's book on Cuba, intended to be critical of State Department policy because it rejected his ideas, is nevertheless an explanation and defense of the State Department policy of intervention. In Cuba, this policy produced the anti-American regime of Fidel Castro.

The current policy of intervention is based on the assumption that it is possible in Washington to determine for every country in the world which is a good and which is a bad government. The defense against such an arbitrary intervention in the affairs of other countries is for them to become anti-American. This, in varying degrees, is now a universal pattern.

The only cure for the almost universal anti-Americanism is for this country to adopt one of two policies. Either we recognize that our conduct since 1948 has generally been an error, or we lay it down as an absolute yardstick that we disregard the internal affairs of any country and we measure our relationships to them solely on the line that this conduct benefits the United States to the degree that we may regard them as allies. By such a yardstick, we would recognize the present successor government of the Dominican Republic and assist it to stabilize itself.

How to Build Resistance Against Dental Cavities

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

I have summarized some recent observations on the causes for dental decay. Here are some suggestions, based on these observations, that may save you many a toothache and a goodly proportion of your dental expenses.

To prevent the colonization of the many varieties of decay-producing bacteria, you must cut them off from their food supplies of available sugars (carbohydrates). This does not mean that you need to feed yourself a carbohydrate-poor diet.

It means that you must reduce the sugar content of your mouth by avoiding sticky, gooey carbohydrates (caramels, taffy, fudge, cookies, etc.) especially between meals. And, if eaten with meals, you must immediately remove food particals of all sorts from between your teeth and/or from pits and cracks on the surface of your teeth.

To do this effectively, place greatest reliance on dental floss for between-the-teeth impactions and on tooth brushing to pits and cracks. To facilitate tooth brushing, you need only a lather of hand soap.

You have no need for dentifrices that contain abrasives that will scrape your tooth enamel, peptic digestants, antiseptics and bactericides that will rid your mouth of few bacteria for even a few moments, wetting agents, chlorophyllin for breath "sweetening" or any combination of these "miracle" ingredients.

In the words of the American Dental Association "the function of a dentifrice is to aid the brush in cleaning the teeth." And, as for the "magic" ingredients, the same authority concludes that "none has survived the test of time and use."

Mouth washes will not help you. They will kill no significant number of bacteria. They will not get rid of bad taste or offensive breath (halitosis). Temporarily, they may mask offensive taste or odor with an overlap of an aromatic much as perfume might be used to substitute for a bath.

If you have inherited large teeth with an abundance of pits and fissures, if your teeth are so jammed together you cant' remove impacted food particles without injuring your gums, and/or if your bite is so imperfect you impose all the wear on one or another surface, see your dentist and let him get you lined up properly.

If you truly want to "strengthen your tooth defenses against dental caries," you may urge your local community to sanction fluoridation of your water supply.

If that's not possible, you may add a single tablet of 1 mg. of fluoride to each pint of your drinking water. If that's not possible, get your dentist to treat your enamel with fluoride or use a dentifrice that contains fluoride.

Of these four possibilities, the first is regarded as the cheapest and most effective, the last, the least effective and the most expensive.

"Hey! Down With Imperialism!"

Washington News

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges has one of the toughest jobs in the Kennedy cabinet. In some ways it's even worse than the job of Secretary of State Dean Rusk. All Rusk has to do is persuade Khrushchev to be reasonable. But Hodges has to convince American businessmen that the Kennedy administration is not "anti-business."

IT'S NOT 'PRO-BUSINESS' OR 'ANTI-BUSINESS' either," says the secretary. He was a conservative businessman himself as general manager of all Marshall Field textile mills. Then he went into politics, becoming governor of North Carolina before he was named Kennedy's senior cabinet officer.

He characterizes the President today as "pro-people." Business didn't elect him but he is trying to do all he promised during the campaign, including the promotion of economic growth.

Hodges recalls that the Eisenhower administration was called "pro-business." What business got out of it was the most vigorous antitrust prosecution it ever had up to that time under Republican Attorney General William P. Rodgers.

Continuation of this policy by the President's brother, Robert F. Kennedy, is one of the sorer spots of business today. This is the same Bobby who, as counsel for the Senate Rackets Committee, was said to be violently "antilabor."

Disapproval of a few big city bank mergers is called another Kennedy business harassment. Warnings issued to newspaper, television, communications, oil and gas industries said to be exercising monopolies did not sit well with business.

FINALLY THE PRESIDENT'S LETTER to the steel industry expressing "concern for stability in prices" was interpreted as threatening the steelmakers with controls without insisting that labor leaders accept controls over wages.

Actually, the President said that if steel prices were held down, then labor would have to hold down wage demands. He also wrote the auto makers and auto labor leaders to the same effect. But these details are forgotten or overlooked, says Hodges.

"If a man calls you a so-and-so," he says, "then you are to him until you prove that you aren't."

Proving that the President isn't anti-business is one of the chores to which the secretary is now devoting considerable time. In recent weeks he has taken two groups of business leaders to the White House for hour-long talks.

One included two top leaders from U. S. Chamber of Commerce National Association of Manufacturers and Committee for Economic Development invited to discuss domestic business.

A half-dozen top executives of big exporting companies invited to discuss foreign trade problems made up the second group.

Both groups offered their services, and from both groups the President asked help, particularly in recruiting businessmen to take administrative positions in government.

EVERYWHERE HODGES GOES, he arranges a meeting with a dozen business leaders. U. S. Steel's Roger Blough is arranging a dinner for him in New York in the near future. The principal subject of conversation shouldn't be hard to guess.

"After 30 years in business," says the secretary, "I have given 10 years of my life to public service. And sometimes I'm a little nonplussed by business attitudes.

"If the Kennedy administration is anti-business," he continues, "then we have an anomoly in this country. For we are coming out of the last recession twice as fast as we ever did before.

"The gross national product annual rate of $526 billion is the highest ever and the projection is for a $540 billion rate at the end of the year.

"Business feels it can make profits, with a $5.5 billion increase to an annual rate of $45.5 billion in the second quarter and national income at a new all-time high annual rate of $426 billion.

"We should have a balanced budget in 1963 and we might even do it in 1962, because there's no telling just how much money everybody is going to make."

Tallying Up the Scorecard Of Congressional Session

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—This is the time, as Congress adjourns, when the scorecard on what it accomplished is tallied up for praise or blame. The measurement usually is in terms of what legislation a President obtained or failed to get. actually, the wonder is that in a Congress of so many conflicting currents anything much was accomplished at all.

For the Congress of the United States, in a parliamentary sense, has not been a responsible institution for many years. It is not responsible to any party. It is not responsible to the President. In fact, it is responsible locally —not collectively—to the residents of 437 Congressional districts and the constituencies of 100 Senators.

Time was when the two major parties held frequent caucuses and when individual members were required to abide by the wishes of the majority of their fellow members in the party. Today both parties are split wide open, and leadership is a sort of makeshift arrangement to secure the passage of those bills which are the least controversial.

The National Mood

This doesn't mean that in the current Congress bills always were passed or failed by large margins. On the contrary, narrow margins often marked the passage or defeat of important measures.

What affects Congress more than anything else in a session like the one that has just closed is the mood of the country. President Kennedy was elected by one of the narrowest majorities of the popular vote in history. When the country is almost equally divided, there is no overall mandate in a Presidential election which can be said to give the President the influence he needs to exert his leadership. Then, on top of all this, came the crisis in the international situation. These tended to slow down the momentum behind various bills which in normal times might have been readily passed.

It's difficult, indeed, for any President in abnormal times to shape up a program that will command a majority in both houses. It happens that in this case economic conditions also were certainly not normal. A recession developed early in 1960, and unemployment was running at a substantial rate when Mr. Kennedy took office. The remedies customarily proposed—involving vast spending programs —were blocked by those in Congress who felt that a temporary economic setback might be made worse through inordinate spending, with all the dangers of an inflation that could reduce the purchasing power of an already shrinking dollar.

Nation Won't Stand Still

Basically, the last Congress proved wrong those prophets who backed the Kennedy cause in the last campaign with the argument that, since there would be a Democratic majority in Congress, the election of a Democratic President would mean passage of a comprehensive legislative program. Mr. Kennedy did get almost a two-thirds majority in both houses in the 1960 election, but these analysts have constantly underestimated the conservative strength in both major parties in Congress, supported—as it is—by a majority sentiment in the country as a whole. The country is not in favor of standing still, nor is it reactionary in its thinking about needed reforms. It wants, however, reforms which can be shown to be sound and which will not cause a further decline in the purchasing power of the dollar.

The last Congress did move the budget up to $88 billion and did spend a lot of money for special projects. This always will be true to a certain extent where individual districts stand to benefit from Congressional action.

Such broad proposals, however, as medical care for the aged and federal aid to education failed largely because the case for them was not as clear as the case against them. These two major pieces of legislation are far from dead — they will come up again and again until some compromise is worked out.

The real issue that remains for future solution involves the question of federal money for schools and colleges that are operated by various churches. Unfortunately, a good deal of inconsistency has been exhibited in some of the arguments. Thus, President Kennedy, conscious of the religious issue in the last campaign, insisted that any aid to elementary schools that happen to be run by churches would be unconstitutional.

So-Called Catholic Vote

But he never answered satisfactorily the argument that, if the federal government can appropriate any money at all for church-operated colleges—as it has done in several instances —then it can constitutionally do so for elementary and secondary schools. Mr. Kennedy's election was due to no small extent to the so-called Catholic vote, but he may lose much of this in 1964 unless he takes the position that Congress should enact laws and rely on the Supreme Court—and not on the pressure groups or political parties — to decide Constitutional questions.

All in all, Mr. Kennedy managed to get the most urgent of his measures passed, though these were not always in the form he recommended. The Congress, for instance, did give its best judgment on foreign aid—that certain proposals to extend financial aid to various foreign countries should be carefully examined and re-examined without long-range commitments which couldn't be altered every two years. On the whole, the Congress itself, in the face of thousands of obstacles, did a creditable job in its handling of several controversial subjects.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

I never knew that Kingston Point Park used newspaper advertisements. The Park seemed to manage to get a full house without any trouble. This advertisement at the bottom of the page in a May 28 paper is for the season of 1915. It mentions, boating, bathing, fishing, shooting gallery, arcade, dancing, roller skating, carousal, Japanese games . . ."

Under the dance part they say: "Dance 8 to 12 p. m. Dance in a woodland dell of cedar and moss with its myriad of sparkling lights shining down on the prettiest park on the Hudson. Muller's incomparable orchestra. Kingston Point Casino, every Monday, Wednesday, Saturday, Holidays. Excursions. Watch the cars (they meant trolley-cars) for dancing nights."

The front and back of the trolley-cars often had show cards giving information to the public. I think they used to mention high tide, at the beach, in the summer.

This same May 28, 1915, Kingston paper had a large advertisement from Carl's store, for their Decoration Day specials. They had a $2 American flag outfit for $1.69. "New 48 star flag, fast color, handsome polished pole, 8 feet long, new patent double reversible bracket." They had wool flags, 8 by 12 feet, with sewed on stars for $9.50 and smaller sizes for less. They also featured, red, white and blue bunting at 5 cents a yard.

Another Friday and Saturday special was, "with purchase of 50 cents or over, an ice cream soda, free." Their advertisement said, "Try our excellent, pure soda." So I take it they had a soda fountain then, and I think someone told me, or I read somewhere, that it was on the balcony, overlooking the panorama of the Catskills from the picture window.

With so many transformations going on, in the uptown section of Kingston the following may be interesting from the May 25, 1915 local paper. A conference was held to talk over plans for wasteland in the rear of North Front Street into a playground. The swamp was to be drained and the street department was to assist in the filling in of the swamp. It was also expected that the O and W and the U and D railroads would assist in the work of filling in the land which was to be graded.

Downing Vaux, the landscape artist, (the designer of Kingston Point Park and Riverside Drive) prepared plans for the proposed playground, free of charge. The plans were shown at the meeting, for a baseball diamond, a running track, one eighth of a mile in diameter, several tennis courts, children's swings, teeter boards, a bandstand, toolhouse, tents, sandpiles, walks, benches, flower beds and shade trees.

The grounds in the rear of North Front Street covered approximately three acres and would have made an ideal recreation area, transforming an eye sore, into a thing of beauty. Lights were to be installed and steps to be built from the Fair Street Extension leading to the park. A. E. Rose and O. E. Rose, of the Carl Co. gave permission to use the land owned by them, in the rear of the big store for a playground. I take it the parking lot is there now.

Once in a while I am asked, when the parking place on John Street was opened to public use. The date is July, 1919. As far as I can remember, it was free. Joseph Schuler was in charge at the beginning.

matter of fact

Pioneer craft to land on distant planets will be a housewife's dream—completely germproof. Scientists warn that unless our spaceships are free of earth bacteria, we will contaminate space. Then we'd never know if bacteria were there before we landed, or if we brought them with us. Why this concern? Because microscopic life on one planet is an indication of higher life somewhere else, where conditions are right.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, SEPTEMBER 28, 1961

AMENDMENT NO. 2

The form of submission of proposed Amendment No. 2, which will appear on the ballot at the general election November 7 is "Shall the proposed amendment to article five, sections two, three and four of the constitution in relation to the number and names of civil departments in the state government, be approved?

This would seem to be a part of the state government reorganization, which is designed to cut down the number of state agencies reporting directly to the Governor to a more manageable number of a modern department structure.

Proponents also say that the legislature would be empowered to adjust governmental structure of the departments from time to time to meet changing needs, in much the same way as congress may effect such changes in Federal departments.

Opponents say that the legislature may irresponsibly make changes which result in greater administrative expense. Existing departments not mentioned in the Constitution will be left defenseless before the legislature.

The committee on law reform of the New York Chamber of Commerce declares the amendment would facilitate reorganization of the executive branch of the government, a step which it said is not only desirable but necessary.

We believe this amendment is in the interest of all the people of the state.

DAG'S FAITH IN U.N.

The United Nations, its future imperiled as never before, may find the seeds of survival and new strength in the late Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold's final official testament to the U.N.'s overriding purposes.

With the frosty detachment and deliberately "gray" language which made him peculiarly the symbol of international impartiality, Hammarskjold in his last annual report sketched out two futures the U.N. might embrace.

In the one, the organization would serve mainly as an arena of competition, of intermittent conflict among the varying interests and ideologies of the West, the Communist bloc and the neutral or unaligned nations.

Though he never mentioned the Soviet Union by name, he made clear the Kremlin-sponsored proposal for a three-headed U.N. secretariat roots itself in this notion: that the U.N. is a kind of shifting battleground but nothing more.

The other future he foresaw—and the one he unmistakenly believed in—would make of the United Nations an arena of co-operation, an impartial ground above the struggle a fixed place with a life of its own, presided over— with steadily enlarging executive authority— by an independent secretariat devoted to the general world good.

Lofty as this may sound, no one who knew or dealt with Hammarskjold had any doubt that he worked for just these goals.

As a realist, he knew full well how deeply the U.N. is today embroiled in power politics and the problems of change. He declined therefore to brand it as a failure, saying "it would seem more correct to regard this as a failure of the world community."

The remedy he prescribed was for member nations jointly to "increase their efforts to make political realities gradually come closer to the pattern established by the U.N. charter."

To Hammarskjold that charter stood as a great, flexible, beckoning instrument capable of drawing most if not all the member states down the path of fuller co-operation.

In the charter he found positive, specific sponsorship of a wide range of economic and social activities aimed at the mutual betterment of the participating lands.

By his measure, the "competing interest" concept the Russians espouse is at opposite poles from this basic and highly promising charter objective.

'These Days'

INTERVENTION

Intervention has too long been the policy of the State Department. It has been a costly policy for the United States and has won us no friends in the world. In the topsy-turvy linguistics of our era intervention is called non-intervention, but nobody is mistaken as to what the process is.

Let me state it this way: the United States believes in certain, specific ideals of government and of human rights. The Declaration of Independence sets down in the clearest language our philosophy of government, the Constitution, including its numerous amendments, reduces the philosophic statement of government by choice to a workable system which provides us with a representative republic with numerous and specific limitations upon government and with a detailed statement of the rights of man. This form of government we regard as good and we strive to maintain it although sometimes it is very difficult.

Other peoples do not particularly care for our form of government. They find it confusing, almost to the degree of being anarchic. They prefer order; we prefer freedom. They look upon our freedom as disorderly, as lacking in manners and propriety. Some peoples prefer the despotism of dictatorship or the rule of an oligarchy. This, we do not understand. In fact, many of our people do not believe that any people can possibly prefer order to freedom. When we hear of such countries, we wonder what kind of people those are.

The Dominican Republic may be used as an example of what happens when dogmatism is applied to international relations.

The Dominican Republic was well-governed under the dictatorship of Trujillo. He called himself the benefactor and enriched himself, his family and his friends. But he produced an improved way of life for his people. Compared with other Latin American countries, the Dominican Republic was superior from every standpoint except one. The one exception was that Trujillo was a dictator. The State Department does not tolerate dictators. But which government in Latin America has what we call a democracy?

Therefore the State Department intervened in the affairs of the Dominican Republic. The intervention went so far that we cut off diplomatic relations with the Dominican Republic. Trujillo was assassinated and an orderly country was thrown into chaos.

It will be protested that I falsely connect our cutting off diplomatic relations with the Dominican Republic and the assassination of Trujillo. I maintain that the two events are connected in the sense that the assassins must have assumed that they were pleasing the United States and would be duly rewarded when they set up a regime of their own. It is to be noted that Trujillo was assassinated after the United States cut off diplomatic relations.

As a result, the orderly, prosperous Dominican Republic has been thrown into chaos. A country that consistently supported American policy in the United Nations is no longer friendly to the United States. Unless our government changes its policy toward the Dominican Republic, the Communists, in a month or two, will take the place without the slightest resistance.

We intervened in Cuba and got rid of the dictator, Batista. We did everything possible to support Castro. Herbert Matthews's book on Cuba, intended to be critical of State Department policy because it rejected his ideas, is nevertheless an explanation and defense of the State Department policy of intervention. In Cuba, this policy produced the anti-American regime of Fidel Castro.

The current policy of intervention is based on the assumption that it is possible in Washington to determine for every country in the world which is a good and which is a bad government. FINALLY THE PRESIDENT'S LETTER to the steel industry expressing "concern for stability in prices" was interpreted as threatening the steelmakers with controls without insisting that labor leaders accept controls over wages.

Actually, the President said that if steel prices were held down, then labor would have to hold down wage demands. He also wrote the auto makers and auto labor leaders to the same effect. But these details are forgotten or overlooked, says Hodges.

"If a man calls you a so-and-so," he says, "then you are to him until you prove that you aren't."

Proving that the President isn't anti-business is one of the chores to which the secretary is now devoting considerable time. In recent weeks he has taken two groups of business leaders to the White House for hour-long talks.

One included two top leaders from U. S. Chamber of Commerce National Association of Manufacturers and Committee for Economic Development invited to discuss domestic business.

A half-dozen top executives of big exporting companies invited to discuss foreign trade problems made up the second group.

Both groups offered their services, and from both groups the President asked help, particularly in recruiting businessmen to take administrative positions in government.

EVERYWHERE HODGES GOES, he arranges a meeting with a dozen business leaders. U. S. Steel's Roger Blough is arranging a dinner for him in New York in the near future. The principal subject of conversation shouldn't be hard to guess.

"After 30 years in business," says the secretary, "I have given 10 years of my life to public service. And sometimes I'm a little nonplussed by business attitudes.

"If the Kennedy administration is anti-business," he continues, "then we have an anomoly in this country. For we are coming out of the last recession twice as fast as we ever did before.

"The gross national product annual rate of $526 billion is the highest ever and the projection is for a $540 billion rate at the end of the year.

"Business feels it can make profits, with a $5.5 billion increase to an annual rate of $45.5 billion in the second quarter and national income at a new all-time high annual rate of $426 billion.

"We should have a balanced budget in 1963 and we might even do it in 1962, because there's no telling just how much money everybody is going to make."

Tallying Up the Scorecard Of Congressional Session

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—This is the time, as Congress adjourns, when the scorecard on what it accomplished is tallied up for praise or blame. The measurement usually is in terms of what legislation a President obtained or failed to get. actually, the wonder is that in a Congress of so many conflicting currents anything much was accomplished at all.

For the Congress of the United States, in a parliamentary sense, has not been a responsible institution for many years. It is not responsible to any party. It is not responsible to the President. In fact, it is responsible locally—not collectively—to the residents of 437 Congressional districts and the constituencies of 100 Senators.

Time was when the two major parties held frequent caucuses and when individual members were required to abide by the wishes of the majority of their fellow members in the party. Today both parties are split wide open, and leadership is a sort of makeshift arrangement to secure the passage of those bills which are the least controversial.

The National Mood

This doesn't mean that in the current Congress bills always were passed or failed by large margins. On the contrary, narrow margins often marked the passage or defeat of important measures.

What affects Congress more than anything else in a session like the one that has just closed is the mood of the country. President Kennedy was elected by one of the narrowest majorities of the popular vote in history. When the country is almost equally divided, there is no overall mandate in a Presidential election which can be said to give the President the influence he needs to exert his leadership. Then, on top of all this, came the crisis in the international situation. These tended to slow down the momentum behind various bills which in normal times might have been readily passed.

It's difficult, indeed, for any President in abnormal times to shape up a program that will command a majority in both houses. It happens that in this case economic conditions also were certainly not normal. A recession developed early in 1960, and unemployment was running at a substantial rate when Mr. Kennedy took office. The remedies customarily proposed—involving vast spending programs—were blocked by those in Congress who felt that a temporary economic setback might be made worse through inordinate spending, with all the dangers of an inflation that could reduce the purchasing power of an already shrinking dollar.

Nation Won't Stand Still

Basically, the last Congress proved wrong those prophets who backed the Kennedy cause in the last campaign with the argument that, since there would be a Democratic majority in Congress, the election of a Democratic President would mean passage of a comprehensive legislative program. Mr. Kennedy did get almost a two-thirds majority in both houses in the 1960 election, but these analysts have constantly underestimated the conservative strength in both major parties in Congress, supported—as it is—by a majority sentiment in the country as a whole. The country is not in favor of standing still, nor is it reactionary in its thinking about needed reforms. It wants, however, reforms which can be shown to be sound and which will not cause a further decline in the purchasing power of the dollar.

The last Congress did move the budget up to $88 billion and did spend a lot of money for special projects. This always will be true to a certain extent where individual districts stand to benefit from Congressional action.

Such broad proposals, however, as medical care for the aged and federal aid to education failed largely because the case for them was not as clear as the case against them. These two major pieces of legislation are far from dead—they will come up again and again until some compromise is worked out.

The real issue that remains for future solution involves the question of federal money for schools and colleges that are operated by various churches. Unfortunately, a good deal of inconsistency has been exhibited in some of the arguments. Thus, President Kennedy, conscious of the religious issue in the last campaign, insisted that any aid to elementary schools that happen to be run by churches would be unconstitutional.

So-Called Catholic Vote

But he never answered satisfactorily the argument that, if the federal government can appropriate any money at all for church-operated colleges—as it has done in several instances—then it can constitutionally do so for elementary and secondary schools. Mr. Kennedy's election was due to no small extent to the so-called Catholic vote, but he may lose much of this in 1964 unless he takes the position that Congress should enact laws and rely on the Supreme Court—and not on the pressure groups or political parties — to decide Constitutional questions.

All in all, Mr. Kennedy managed to get the most urgent of his measures passed, though these were not always in the form he recommended. The Congress, for instance, did give its best judgment on foreign aid—that certain proposals to extend financial aid to various foreign countries should be carefully examined and re-examined without long-range commitments which couldn't be altered every two years. On the whole, the Congress itself, in the face of thousands of obstacles, did a creditable job in its handling of several controversial subjects.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

I never knew that Kingston Point Park used newspaper advertisements. The Park seemed to manage to get a full house without any trouble. This advertisement at the bottom of the page in a May 28 paper is for the season of 1915. It mentions, boating, bathing, fishing, shooting gallery, arcade, dancing, roller skating, carousal, Japanese games . . ."

Under the dance part they say: "Dance 8 to 12 p. m. Dance in a woodland dell of cedar and moss with its myriad of sparkling lights shining down on the prettiest park on the Hudson. Muller's incomparable orchestra. Kingston Point Casino, every Monday, Wednesday, Saturday, Holidays. Excursions. Watch the cars (they meant trolley-cars) for dancing nights."

The front and back of the trolley-cars often had show cards giving information to the public. I think they used to mention high tide, at the beach, in the summer.

This same May 28, 1915, Kingston paper had a large advertisement from Carl's store, for their Decoration Day specials. They had a $2 American flag outfit for $1.69. "New 48 star flag, fast color, handsome polished pole, 8 feet long, new patent double reversible bracket." They had wool flags, 8 by 12 feet, with sewed on stars for $9.50 and smaller sizes for less. They also featured, red, white and blue bunting at 5 cents a yard.

Another Friday and Saturday special was, "with purchase of 50 cents or over, an ice cream soda, free." Their advertisement said, "Try our excellent, pure soda." So I take it they had a soda fountain then, and I think someone told me, or I read somewhere, that it was on the balcony, overlooking the panorama of the Catskills from the picture window.

With so many transformations going on, in the uptown section of Kingston the following may be interesting from the May 25, 1915 local paper. A conference was held to talk over plans for wasteland in the rear of North Front Street into a playground. The swamp was to be drained and the street department was to assist in the filling in of the swamp. It was also expected that the O and W and the U and D railroads would assist in the work of filling in the land which was to be graded.

Downing Vaux, the landscape artist, (the designer of Kingston Point Park and Riverside Drive) prepared plans for the proposed playground, free of charge. The plans were shown at the meeting, for a baseball diamond, a running track, one eighth of a mile in diameter, several tennis courts, children's swings, teeter boards, a bandstand, toolhouse, tents, sandpiles, walks, benches, flower beds and shade trees.

The grounds in the rear of North Front Street covered approximately three acres and would have made an ideal recreation area, transforming an eye sore, into a thing of beauty. Lights were to be installed and steps to be built from the Fair Street Extension leading to the park. A. E. Rose and O. E. Rose, of the Carl Co. gave permission to use the land owned by them, in the rear of the big store for a playground. I take it the parking lot is there now.

Once in a while I am asked, when the parking place on John Street was opened to public use. The date is July, 1919. As far as I can remember, it was free. Joseph Schuler was in charge at the beginning.

matter of fact

Pioneer craft to land on distant planets will be a housewife's dream—completely germproof. Scientists warn that unless our spaceships are free of earth bacteria, we will contaminate space. Then we'd never know if bacteria were there before we landed, or if we brought them with us. Why this concern? Because microscopic life on one planet is an indication of higher life somewhere else, where conditions are right.

Sues for $25,000 But Court Gives Six-Cent Verdict

Supreme Court Justice Isadore Bookstein yesterday awarded a six-cent verdict to Donald J. Clapp of Greenport, Columbia County, in an action under which Clapp had sued his neighbor, Harvey Neibergall, for $25,000 in a malicious prosecution action.

The unusual verdict and the situation of the Court in assessing the amount of damages came about because a sealed verdict returned by the court. The jury four for Clapp but no amount of damage was stipulated in the verdict.

In his action Clapp alleged false arrest and malicious prosecution. He was arrested August 3, 1959, on complaint of Neibergall and was acquitted by a jury in Greenport justice's court on September 7, 1959. Clapp then brought an action for malicious prosecution.

Wedlock Long Distance

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Attorney General Albertis Harrison says marriage by long distance telephone apparently is legal even when the bride and groom are separated by the Atlantic Ocean. His opinion was given to Del. Garnett Moore of Pulaski who asked in behalf of an airman whose marriage to a French girl by telephone was ruled illegal by the Air Force. Harrison found no statuatory requirement that the bride and groom be in the presence of each other.

Baptists Install New Club Leaders, Joy Guest Speaker

Abram D. Winchell of Forest Glen Park was installed as president of the Men's Club of First Baptist Church Wednesday night.

Others formally assuming their new offices for the year were:

George Kenneda, vice-president; John Rogaski, treasurer and Alfred Shultis, secretary.

George W. Chase, retiring president and the Rev. Harold J. Stephanz officiated at the installation service.

Chet Joy, touted by many as Ulster County's most renowned fisherman, highlighted last night's program.

Joy reviewed some of his recent writings for national publications in which he cited the ills of the apparent lack of an educated public in regard to conservation which he labeled as the true life blood of America.

The former Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club president appealed to his listeners to learn more about conservaton as helping to make this nation the "Utopia of the world."

Joy also showed films of his own Combinay fishng reel. Action shots taken at the Eddville Falls, the Esopus, Ashokan Reservoir and in New Hampshire delighted his viewers.

The local nimrod who has creeled some record-sized fish in his sorties on area streams, also offered various tips to members of the club.

The next meeting of the club is scheduled for Wednesday night, Oct. 25, at which time President Winchell will announce his commttee appointments.

The local nimrod who has creeled some record-sized fish in his sorties on area streams, also offered various tips to members of the club.

The next meeting of the club is scheduled for Wednesday night, Oct. 25, at which time President Winchell will announce his commttee appointments.

Sues for $25,000 But Court Gives Six-Cent Verdict

Supreme Court Justice Isadore Bookstein yesterday awarded a six-cent verdict to Donald J. Clapp of Greenport, Columbia County, in an action under which Clapp had sued his neighbor, Harvey Neibergall, for $25,000 in a malicious prosecution action.

The unusual verdict and the situation of the Court in assessing the amount of damages came about because a sealed verdict returned by the court. The jury four for Clapp but no amount of damage was stipulated in the verdict.

In his action Clapp alleged false arrest and malicious prosecution. He was arrested August 3, 1959, on complaint of Neibergall and was acquitted by a jury in Greenport justice's court on September 7, 1959. Clapp then brought an action for malicious prosecution.

Wedlock Long Distance

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Attorney General Albertis Harrison says marriage by long distance telephone apparently is legal even when the bride and groom are separated by the Atlantic Ocean. His opinion was given to Del. Garnett Moore of Pulaski who asked in behalf of an airman whose marriage to a French girl by telephone was ruled illegal by the Air Force. Harrison found no statuatory requirement that the bride and groom be in the presence of each other.

Former Sheriff Aide in Orange Is Found Guilty

NEWBURGH, N.Y. (AP)—Suspended Deputy Sheriff Thomas Hazlett, 71, was found guilty Wednesday night of misappropriating funds, petty larceny, and forgery.

An Orange County Court jury returned the verdict after deliberating about 10 hours.

Hazlett was charged with misappropriating $500 of public funds between 1956 and 1958. A state audit in 1958 disclosed the shortage.

Hazlett, who denied any wrongdoing, once served as Newburgh welfare commissioner.

The misappropriation charge by a public official provides for a maximum penalty of seven years in prison and $1,000 fine; petty larceny carries a one-year maximum; forgery, five years.

Governors Name Transit Members

NEW YORK (AP)—Three governors have made appointments to local cooperating committees to work with the Tristate Transportation Committee which they created Aug. 30.

The appointments, announced Wednesday, were made by Govs. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey and John Dempsey of Connecticut.

In addition, Mayor Robert F. Wagner appointed a New York City committee.

The governors said late last month that local government participation was essential to the examination and recommendation of solutions of long-term transportation needs of the metropolitan region.

Those named to the New York State committee are: Edward G. Michaelian, county executive of Westchester, chairman; Robert J. Blinn, chairman of the Dutchess County Board of Supervisors; H. Lee Dennison, county executive of Suffolk; Albert C. Howell, chairman of the Orange County Board of Supervisors; A. Holly Patterson, county executive of Nassau; Victor J. Shankey, chairman of the Rockland County Board of Supervisors, and Harry G. Silleck, chairman of the Putnam County Board of Supervisors.

Novel Gets Around

ARMONK, N.Y. (AP)—A novel for teen-agers has finally made it back to the shelves of the North Castle library—11 weeks and 30,000 miles later.

The book, "Betsy's Wedding," was lent for the summer on July 6 to Diane Stern. She took it to Paris, and her father's office mailed it to the library.

Somehow, the novel was received by the F. W. Cheshire bookstore in Melbourne, Australia, which included it among books ordered by C. Hartley Grattan of Katonah, N.Y.

Grattan's wife sent the book along to the Westchester library system, which delivered it to the North Castle library.

Average Acreage Rates for Wheat Are Listed Here

The average county rates per acre for wheat diverted to conservation uses under the 1962 wheat program are $28.20 and $37.70, according to E. M. Wood, chairman, Ulster County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee.

Individual farm rates are based on these county rates, depending on the farm's productivity in relation to the county average, the chairman said. He also pointed out that each wheat producer in the county with a 1962 wheat allotment, and also each producer without allotments who have grown wheat in at least one of the years 1959, 1960 or 1961, has received information on the 1962 wheat program, including two rates for his farm.

Rates Are Explained

For the minimum payment, the rate is 45 per cent of the adjusted basic county support rate, multiplied first by the number of diverted acres, and then by the individual farm yield or productivity index.

The maximum payment rate is computed in the same way using 60 per cent of the adjusted basic county support rate.

Producers must use an acreage at least equal to 11.1 per cent of their 1962 farm wheat allotment for conservation in order to be eligible for price support under the 1962 program and be in compliance with their 1962 allotment.

In addition, farmers may voluntarily divert an additional one-third of their 1962 allotment. The payment earned for this additional diversion is made at the maximum farm payment rate.

Paid for Reduction

Under the program farmers will be paid for the reduction of wheat acreage for harvest in the coming year and for diverting a similar acreage to a conservation use. The land so diverted must be cropland from which a small grain or other row crop has been harvested in at least one of the past three years. This diverted acreage cannot be harvested or pastured in 1962, however, the land may be seeded to grasses and legumes or a crop may be planted next Fall for harvest in 1963.

The diverted acreage must represent an additional amount over the normal conservation acreage, plus any acreage diverted to conservation uses for which payment is made under any other federal program, such as the feed grain program, Chairman Wood said.

Enrollment in the Wheat Stabilization program has begun and will be open through October 31.

Wood urges all eligible farmers to enroll at the ASCS Office, 54 John Street.

The National Safety Council figures there is an accidental death every six minutes in the United States.

Ice and Strikes Cut Tonnage on Upstate Seaway

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Ice and strikes have cut tonnage on the St. Lawrence Seaway, the Seaway Authority admits.

William H. Crosswhite, traffic and information officer for the Seaway Development Corp. said two solutions to the ice problem had been put forward by the Army Corps of Engineers.

The inland waterway freezes about Nov. 30 and stays closed until the middle of April, Crosswhite said Wednesday in a speech at a convention of the American Association of Port Authorities.

One solution, he said, was placing pipes along the floor of the Seaway. The pipes would eject compressed air into the water and literally blow the ice out.

The other Engineers' proposal was sinking nuclear material in the Seaway to keep the water warm.

"I'm not very optimistic about either," he said, "but we are thinking of shooting people to the moon so why not try solving a terrestrial problem like this?"

The bright side of the seaway story, he said, was the ever-increasing amount of iron ore shipped to the great lakes from Quebec and Labrador.

Iron ore now represents a quarter of the Seaway's total tonnage, which is expected to reach 31 million tons this year, Crosswhite said.

Judah P. Benjamin served at various times as attorney general, secretary of war and secretary of state in the cabinet of the Confederate States of America.

Ice and Strikes Cut Tonnage on Upstate Seaway

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Ice and strikes have cut tonnage on the St. Lawrence Seaway, the Seaway Authority admits.

William H. Crosswhite, traffic and information officer for the Seaway Development Corp. said two solutions to the ice problem had been put forward by the Army Corps of Engineers.

The inland waterway freezes about Nov. 30 and stays closed until the middle of April, Crosswhite said Wednesday in a speech at a convention of the American Association of Port Authorities.

One solution, he said, was placing pipes along the floor of the Seaway. The pipes would eject compressed air into the water and literally blow the ice out.

The other Engineers' proposal was sinking nuclear material in the Seaway to keep the water warm.

"I'm not very optimistic about either," he said, "but we are thinking of shooting people to the moon so why not try solving a terrestrial problem like this?"

The bright side of the seaway story, he said, was the ever-increasing amount of iron ore shipped to the great lakes from Quebec and Labrador.

Iron ore now represents a quarter of the Seaway's total tonnage, which is expected to reach 31 million tons this year, Crosswhite said.

Judah P. Benjamin served at various times as attorney general, secretary of war and secretary of state in the cabinet of the Confederate States of America.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Price cuts here and there emphasize today that the time hasn't yet come for a general upward sweep just because business has recovered from its one year of decline.

Many are finding comfort in the news that some things that go up can still come down.

The 1960 recession failed to set off any general weakening in prices. In fact, taking in services as well as goods and finished products as well as materials, the price level managed to rise slightly during the slump.

Food Prices to Ease

And now the recovery, although impressive in the industrial production sector, isn't guaranteeing that all prices are going to rise—at least not right away.

Some food prices are due to go up now, but others are likely to ease this fall. Some services seem set to become more costly, but others are leveling off.

Detroit is beginning to announce list prices on its new models. Some are up, but a number are down from last year. The reason is more likely to be competition among the various makes than any clipping of cost corners on the assembly line, where wage scales are about to rise.

Steel prices, regarded as pattern setting by the administration, are still a question. Wage scales go up next week. Steel executives feel that rising production costs and squeezed price margins call for higher prices. But competition is high in this case too.

Industry Competition

There is competition within the industry, with lots of capacity to turn out steel products, and with customers still shopping actively for bargains. And there is competition from substitutes.

The cut in the price of aluminum will give pause to makers of steel products that compete with aluminum in many fields—construction, automotive and food cans and other containers.

The price of copper also is under some pressure, with weakness reported in sensitive spot markets.

Oil refiners supplying gasoline to Midwest markets have just cut prices for the fifth time in two months, because of oversupply and lots of competition, and the increasing number of smaller cars that use less gas.

Tire Prices Steady

One big tire maker has just predicted that prices in that field should hold steady this year, even if rising costs may force hikes in 1962.

The government's consumer price index shows rising prices in used cars, transportation fares, medical fees and home buying costs.

But consumers are assured that in a few more weeks there should be a drop in the price of meats, as the supply increases. If you are a long-time planner, you can be plentiful for Thanksgiving. This year's crop is one fourth larger than last year's. A record supply is waiting in cold storage.

• BRIDGE Conservative Bid or the Gamble?

A rubber bridge player would see no problem at all with today's hand. He would win the opening club lead, study the hand a second to decide about the queen of trumps, play a trump, note the fall of the queen and eventually make his contract and win the rubber.

The duplicate player would have one of those duplicate player's problems. His contract would be safe, but how about overtricks? Should he try for six or take the best play for five?

In the team game, one South tried for six. He drew trumps stopping in his own hand, led a diamond and finessed the jack. The finesse lost and the defense promptly cashed two spade tricks to hold him to four.

The other South abandoned the play for six in order to make the best play for five odd. After drawing trumps he led a spade toward dummy and put in the nine spot. This forced the ace. Later on the jack forced West's king and he was able to discard dummy's third diamond on the queen of spades.

The man who tried for six had taken a poor percentage play. He could only make six if diamonds broke very favorably and should have gone after five in the conservative manner.

Beef in one form or another will decorate many American dinner tables this weekend, judging by specials featured by supermarkets and neighborhood grocery stores.

Bargain cuts appear to be most popular, with chuck roast heading the parade in the East and ground beef getting the big play in the Midwest and Far West. The more expensive items also divide along more or less regional areas, with offerings of rib roast in New England and other Eastern spots compared with steak specials in parts of the South, Midwest and Far West.

Pork Chops Up

Hams are the big item in a few areas, but most pork cuts are less popular. Pork chops are up 10 cents a pound in parts of the Midwest. Fryers, too, are among the missing as prices rise 4 cents a pound over a fairly broad area. Farmers have felt that chickens have no way to go but up after falling to record lows during the summer.

Eggs are up a penny or so a dozen in some areas, but still run well under year-ago levels.

Legs of lamb and veal also are featured items in parts of the East and Midwest, while fish features include scallops, smelts and perch fillets.

A fair variety of fresh fruits and vegetables are on tap in produce departments, offering the thrifty shopper a number of attractive buys.

Cabbage, onions and potatoes head the list of outstanding buys, with the latter two especially attractive where they're available from nearby fields.

Sweet corn and tomatoes are still attractively priced.

Other Plentiful Items

Other plentiful items are carrots, endive, escarole, rutabagas, snap beans, sweet potatoes, celery, peppers, squash, cucumbers, beets, cauliflower, eggplant, mushrooms, radishes, spinach, parsnips and turnips. Lettuce bounced up into the fairly expensive category this week. Broccoli and parsley also are more costly.

Lemons and a wide variety of grapes are tops among fruit bargains. Plump purple concords, green seedless, red ribiers and tokays are among the big grape crop.

Bartlett pears, limes, prunes, an increasing diversity of apples and oranges also are fruits to look for. Honeydew melons remain on the bargain list somewhat later than usual. Avocados, bananas and grapefruits also are featured.

New arrivals include New York peaches, New England apples, California parsley, Mississippi honeydew melons, Colorado cantaloups, Delaware sweet potatoes, Tennessee watercress and Italian chestnuts.

Twice Elected

When Rutherford B. Hayes was elected U.S. president by one vote in the electoral college, his election was contested and referred to an electoral commission, where he again won by a single vote.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Rock Hudson is making the first big money of his career—but he does not want to talk about it.

Rock hit paydirt with the first film for his own company, "Come September." A sexy, saucy comedy laced with striking Italian scenery, including Gina Lollobrigida, it has been the No. 1 box office film in the United States for four weeks.

Outdraws 'Pillow'

The movie has been outdrawing Rock's previous smash, "Pillow Talk" — domestic gross alone: $7.5 million. Because of the foreign angles, including Gina, it is figured to have a greater potential abroad.

I figured Rock would want to talk about his new role as boy tycoon. Nope. He sent word that he couldn't take credit for "Come September's" success; other guys were responsible.

Not All His

I went to see him anyway.

"Money?" he said. "I haven't seen any of it. And I won't for a long, long time. Besides, it's not all mine."

The reason for the latter is a peculiar line among the film's credits: "A Seven Pictures-Raoul Walsh Enterprises production." Seven Pictures is the name of Rock's firm. But Walsh had nothing to do with the film. So what is he doing in there?

"At the start of my career, Walsh put me in a picture at Warner Brothers called 'Fighter Squadron,'" the actor explained. "Warners wanted no part of me, so Walsh put me under contract. As insurance, he put in a clause that I would do my first independent film with his company."

Millionaire Role Beckons

Fourteen years later, Rock finally made his break—though he still releases through Universal and makes some films there as a salaried actor. When Rock announced his own company, Walsh sued for a million. Rather than go to court, Rock cut the veteran director in on "Come September."

Because Rock has never pushed his weight around, he is not, like some of his contemporaries, a millionaire. But come a few more Septembers, he will be.

Boy, 3, Crawls Under School Bus, Killed

HOOSICK FALLS, N.Y. (AP)—Joseph Houghton, 3, was run over and killed by a school bus Wednesday after he fell and then crawled into a street, State Police said.

They said the boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Houghton of this community north of Troy, had been stung by a bee and was running home "to tell Mommy."

He fell down an embankment, crawled into the road and under the rear wheels of the bus, troopers said.

There are a half-million acres of water, including lakes rivers and streams, in Arkansas.

Rocky's Prospects Brighter

Nixon Declares Self Out Of '64; Is Mum on Draft

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)— Richard M. Nixon's decision to bid for the California governorship brightened the prospects today of New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller for the 1964 GOP presidential nomination.

The former vice president's announcement in Los Angeles on Wednesday night that he will seek the GOP nomination for governor does not necessarily eliminate him as a contender for a second presidential try.

Pledges Full Term

Nixon pledged to serve a full four-year term if elected governor. But while declaring himself out of the 1964 presidential race he declined to say he would not respond to a draft. He was asked specifically about a draft and replied: "I shall not seek the presidency in 1964."

Nixon made it clear several weeks ago that if he ran for governor and was elected, he would not expect to enter any state presidential primaries in 1964.

His chances for the presidential nomination thus would be dependent on the development of a nationwide draft movement in his behalf, with the hefty California convention vote serving as the basis of his strength.

Rockefeller, who already has announced for re-election next year, might find himself in a position in a second term where he could enter such primaries. And Sen. John F. Kennedy proved in 1960 they furnish valuable momentum toward a presidential nomination.

Will Cut Down Time

Nixon's decision ties him largely to California issues for the more than a year that will elapse until the November 1962 election. This will mute the voice he has been using as titular head of his party on national and international issues.

If he is elected, he is likely to have his hands so full with a hostile Democratic legislature there won't be much time for the detailed homework necessary to stay abreast of the ins and outs of national and world problems.

Rockefeller, on the other hand, would be likely to have a Republican legislature and be relatively freer to make out-of-state speeches on major issues and push the organizational work needed to win a nomination.

As governor of California and a former national GOP standard bearer, Nixon would have a strong position in the party, where he retains far wider support than Rockefeller has yet been able to assemble.

But Republicans are likely to remember that while Nixon carried California last year, he could not make the grade in New York and didn't win the presidency.

They were brought before Justice of Peace Rudolf Baumgarten and three of them, including Cantine, pleaded guilty and were sentenced to five days in jail and $25 each or 25 days in jail. They declined to pay and were committed to Ulster County jail, but after several days paid the fines and were released. The other two elected to stand trial but were found guilty and received similar sentences.

Louis XIV ruled France for 72 years between 1643 and 1715, the longest reign in modern history.

Nixon Vows . . .

view: Register Republican next year so you can vote against Nixon in the June primary.

Californians will be able to vote only for their own party candidates in that primary for the first time in modern history. Cross-filing, which allowed office-seekers to run on both tickets, was repealed by the 1959 Democratic legislature.

Nixon, brisk and confident and natty in an all-blue ensemble, told newsmen that he actually didn't decide until Tuesday night that he would go after the $40,000-a-year state job.

Only Five Knew

Only five people knew of his plans in advance, he said. They were his wife Pat, daughters Julie, 13, and Tricia, 15; former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and Kyle Palmer, ailing retired political editor of the Los Angeles Times.

Nixon opened the news conference with a 10-minute statement in which he struck hard at Gov. Brown and his Democratic administration.

"California needs a new governor," he said. "It needs a new leader."

Nixon said that after 14 years as a California congressman (1946-50) and senator (1950-52), then vice president of the United States, he found himself restive in his role as a practicing attorney.

"I find that my heart is not there—it is in public service," he said.

Disturbed by Situation

He said he was disturbed that California's state government expenditures are the highest in the nation; that law enforcement is "below the national average;" that education has been "short-changed" because of "payoffs for political boondoggling;" that employment lagged behind population growth.

Nixon said he had reached this conclusion:

"That the amiable but bungling man who presently is the governor of this state cannot clean up this mess for which he is partially and in many instances substantially responsible."

Asked why he had said yes to running after saying no earlier in the year, Nixon said party leaders had convinced him that he was the best of the available candidates: "I am the one who has the best chance and possibly the only chance (1) to win, and (2), to do the job that needs to be done in Sacramento."

Rosendale Vols Association Hears Favorable Report

A report of the recent Town of Rosendale Volunteer Firemen's Association drill was presented at the Tuesday night meeting of the group at Cottekill Firehouse.

Cottekill Chief Ralph Temple said that all aspects of the drill were quite successful and that the drill supplied much information on the other company's tankers. The drill was staged Sunday afternoon with the supposed fire in progress on the Lucas Avenue Turnpike adjacent to the Cottekill firehouse.

Sets Tanker Relay

Inasmuch as an immediate source of water in the Cottekill Fire District is unavailable, Chief Temple set up a tanker relay in order to see how such a relay would function in the event of an actual fire in the Cottekill District. Pumpers from Tillson and Rosendale were stationed in strategic positions to fight the fire and to empty the tankers. Tankers from Binnewater, Cottekill, High Falls and Marbletown were pressed into service to relay water from Binnewater to Cottekill.

Bloomington's pumper was also used as a tanker and a pumper from Binnewater was stationed at a water hole in that district to fill the tankers as they were emptied.

Approximately 25 volunteers participated in the exercise and refreshments were served.

Chief Robert Markle of Rosendale said the next township sponsored drill will be conducted by his company on Sunday afternoon, October 15, somewhere in Rosendale's District. The exact location of the drill will be kept secret until the appointed day when an alarm will be sounded summoning Rosendale who will in turn summon the other mutual aid companies of the association.

Reports on County

Charles Peterson reporting on the recent Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association meeting in Mt. Tremper said Herb Faurote, current president of the Township Association had been elected as second vice president of the County Association.

He further mentioned that according to custom, when the vice president succeeds to president, his home company plays host to the county convention that year. This means that Bloomington and the Township of Rosendale Associationn will host the annual Ulster County Firemen's convention in 1964. Faurote stated that plans were already in progress and said that further discussion on the subject will be brought up shortly.

Captain Donald Walsh of the High Falls Fire Department said he was attending in response to an invitation that the High Falls organization join the association inasmuch as part of their district lies in the Township of Rosendale. Walsh made several inquiries and asked that a representative from the association be present at the next High Falls meeting to explain the workings of the organization. Several delegates said they would attend.

A partial report was given on the progress of the Mutual Aid committee. It was stated that the full plan should be worked out within a very short time and then presented to Country Fire Coordinator Winfred Snyder for his approval. It was also mentioned that the complete plan would be announced to all firemen in the township.

President Faurote said the next meeting of the association would be held in Rosendale firehouse Tuesday evening, Oct. 24.

Ritual Like That for King

Dag Given Unmatched Pomp for Commoner

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Sweden today honored Dag Hammarskjold with a solemn ceremony unmatched in pomp for any commoner in this nation's long history.

The bodies of the late United Nations secretary-general and nine others who perished with him in a plane crash in the Congo arrived here escorted by eight jet fighters.

Hammarskjold's saddened countrymen received him with honors usually accorded only to a king who has fallen in battle.

More than 300 soldiers paraded. A 43-man army band played the royal death march at Stockholm's Bromma Airport, the airport from which Hammarskjold departed eight years ago to take up his post at the United Nations.

As the band started playing with muffled drums, Hammarskjold's coffin was carried from a hangar and placed on a catafalque in the center of a square formed by soldiers and Red Cross personnel standing at attention.

A chilly breeze fluttered the flags of five nations—the United States, Sweden, Haiti, Canada and Ireland. Those are the countries of the other victims of the plane crash that took Hammarskjold's life.

Twenty-one Swedish soldiers carrying blue and yellow Swedish flags and the United Nations banner formed the background as the coffins of the other victims were carried to other catafalques wrapped in the flags of their countries.

Ambassador Johan Beck-Friss placed on each of the coffins a green wreath with a blue and yellow ribbon—the monogram of the Swedish king. That was a tribute by the royal family to the victims of the Ndola crash, which killed eight other Swedes beside Hammarskjold, three Americans, one Canadian, one Irishman, one Haitian and one Swiss. Five of the coffins of Swedish victims were delivered in Malmoe, hometown of the crew of the Hammarskjold plane.

Premier Tage Erlander put a large green wreath with white lilacs on the coffins of Hammarskjold and the other victims.

A state funeral for Hammarskjold will be held Friday at the ancient university town of Uppsala. The ritual follows that reserved for Swedish royalty and never accorded to a commer in this century.

Rotarians Hear Talk on Thule

The great importance of the element of time was vividly brought to the attention of Kingston Rotarians Wednesday by Colonel Edward Locke of Great Barrington, Mass., who had as his topic Thule, Greenland, where the United States has the largest radar station in the world.

The colonel, who was stationed at the atomic testing grounds in the South Pacific and at Thule, gave a first-hand account of what a 30-minute warning would mean to our protective forces, defense weapons and to the country in the event of a surprise enemy attack. Destruction of our powerful defense weapons on the ground would render us helpless. The strategic location of the radar station, the spread of Communist control and influence and the United States position with allies and neutrals were outlined with the aid of graphs.

In his description of the island, the largest in the world, which in sor places is covered with an icecap 1,500 feet thick, he told of living conditions in temperatures of 60 degrees below zero and gale winds up to 150 miles an hour. The primitive conditions was graphically compared with those which would exist in bomb shelters.

Greenland is a Danish colonial possession and the majority of inhabitants are Eskimos, who subsist by fishing, sealing and hunting.

The speaker was presented by Frederic Snyder.

U.S. Voice Only 'Peep' for Lack Of Enough Funds

Senator Jacob J. Javits (R-N.Y.) last night here called for a "crash program" to close a gap between U. S. and Communist propaganda efforts, and substantial funds to expand the United States Information Service.

Javits contended that Uncle Sam with "his big stick" has a voice that is "merely a peep." He said this country puts its USI "through a wringer" over a budget of $130 million, and he added, "the Soviet Union spends 20 times as much for propaganda."

The New York senator said the Soviet Union is now broadcasting 1,000 hours a week, Communist China 680, the United Arab Republic 670 and the United States 660.

Javits spoke before 150 civic and business leaders at a program in the Governor Clinton Hotel marking the inauguration of a new 5,000-watt transmitter by Radio Station WGHQ and its move into new studios and offices at 82 John Street.

"Think of that," Javits said to the group, "the free world's No. 1 nation ranks fourth in the propaganda battle for men's minds."

The speaker said the USIA is directed by "able, competent men, but they are jacketed by inadequate funds."

Failure to supplement military and economic offensive "represents potentially one of the most crucial mistakes we can make in the death-or-life struggle with Communists," Javits said.

The Senator added that a United Nations study which showed nearly 70 per cent of the world's people lack "even the barest means of bejng informed about developments at home, let alone in other countries."

In the Far East, newspapers reach only seven million out of a population of 767 million, one quarter of the world's population, Javits said.

Javits expressed deep concern because he contended this country is losing the battle of words with Russia. He said he would use last night's ceremonies to launch his drive for an accelerated propaganda program.

Girl, 16, Escapes

Parents and Six Children Perish In Ontario Fire

PORT DOVER, Ont. (AP) — Eight members of a family—the father, mother and six children—died early today in their blazing home near this Lake Erie community.

The only occupant of the house to escape was a daughter who was taken to hospital in serious condition from burns.

Dead are Joseph Rosewell, 51; his wife, Pauline, 41; Robert, 20; Shirley, 13; Joan, 11; Ella, 9; Joseph Jr., 4; and Terry Allan, 4 months.

The daughter, Mary, 16 escaped.

A neighbor, Harry Kniffen, saw the fire and saw Mary running down the street screaming.

Could Be Nixon

asked if he agreed with this appraisal.

"No, I really don't," the governor said.

Rockefeller, in answer to several questions on the subject, said it was "premature" to discuss presidential politics at this time. But he insisted, as he has on previous occasions, that he saw no reason to pledge himself for a full, four-year term if re-elected next year.

The governor was in this Western New York city on a three-day political and governmental visit.

The tour ends Friday.

Talks About Jobs

Rockefeller told a gathering of area businessmen Wednesday night that unemployment in the state had dropped by 90,000—to 460,000—from July to August of this year.

But he also pointed out that the total number of jobless was slightly above the August 1960 level.

While Rockefeller does not plan any official, presidential activity in the near future, Nixon's decision against the 1964 bid could touch off early skirmishing between Rockefeller and Goldwater.

Rockefeller has been striving in recent months to picture himself as an orthodox, organization Republican in full agreement with traditional, GOP beliefs. He has rejected publicly the label of "liberal" on the ground that the term, along with "conservative," was left over from depression days and was no longer relevant.

Hint Syria-Egypt

nounce the dissolution of the United Arab Republic."

At one point, the Damascus radio claimed that Amer, Nasser's chief reliance in crushing the revolt, had been arrested in the predawn uprising.

It also declared all ports and airfields had been closed—to prevent reinforcement of the Egyptians—and that the rebels were "fully in control of the situation" in all parts of Syria.

The revolutionaries also claimed the support of the U.A.R. air force commander in Syria and the army commanders in western and southern Syria. Northern tribesmen around Aleppo were reported backing Nasser, however.

Then Damascus radio announced that the revolutionary command had met with Amer and worked out an understanding.

"Military questions have now gone back to their normal course with reliance and trust in the wisdom of the commander in chief of the armed forces and the commander of the 1st (Syrian) army, about carrying out the objectives of the armed forces and of the United Arab Republic," the communique said.

"We are lucky to achieve the aims of the United Arab Republic armed forces command," the communique added.

The broadcast said the rebels had submitted the problems and aims of the army to Amer who "expressed understanding of the true state of affairs of the army and took adequate measures to solve thes problems."

What the problems were was not explained.

Nasser had warned the rebels earlier in a Cairo broadcast that he had issued orders for the 15,000 well-armed Egyptian soldiers in Syria to march on Damascus, the Syrian capital, and stamp out the uprising. Broadcasts from Aleppo in northern Syria said northern Syrian tribes were standing by Nasser.

September Jurors Discharged Today

Jurors attending the September trial term of County Court were excused for the term today by County Judge Raymond J. Mino. During the term several civil and criminal cases have been heard by the jurors.

In discharging the jurors Judge Mino thanked them for their services and expressed his appreciation for the duty as jurors which they have given the county.

Referring to the inconvenience to which the jurors had been put during the term, due to lack of facilities at the court house, Judge Mino told the jurors to return home and acquaint their neighbors with the crowded condition which existed at the court house to the end that the condition may be remedied.

During the September term of County Court both County Judge Mino and Acting County Judge Francis X. Tucker have conducted trials. Both courts sat at times for disposition of cases and at one stage of the term, when other facilities were lacking, Judge Mino and Acting County Judge Tucker were compelled to alternate in using the court room, other facilities being in use.

Jurors were excused for the term and paid mileage and compensation and court recessed until Friday without a jury when additional criminal matters will be disposed of.

The April grand jury, which has been in session since that time, will make its final report to the court Friday. A new Grand Jury panel will attend the October term of Supreme Court which will convene Monday with Justice William Deckelman presiding.

Rocky's Prospects Brighter

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)— Richard M. Nixon's decision to bid for the California governorship brightened the prospects today of New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller for the 1964 GOP presidential nomination.

The former vice president's announcement in Los Angeles on Wednesday night that he will seek the GOP nomination for governor does not necessarily eliminate him as a contender for a second presidential try.

Pledges Full Term

Nixon pledged to serve a full four-year term if elected governor. But while declaring himself out of the 1964 presidential race he declined to say he would not respond to a draft. He was asked specifically about a draft and replied: "I shall not seek the presidency in 1964."

Nixon made it clear several weeks ago that if he ran for governor and was elected, he would not expect to enter any state presidential primaries in 1964.

His chances for the presidential nomination thus would be dependent on the development of a nationwide draft movement in his behalf, with the hefty California convention vote serving as the basis of his strength.

Rockefeller, who already has announced for re-election next year, might find himself in a position in a second term where he could enter such primaries. And Sen. John F. Kennedy proved in 1960 they furnish valuable momentum toward a presidential nomination.

Will Cut Down Time

Nixon's decision ties him largely to California issues for the more than a year that will elapse until the November 1962 election. This will mute the voice he has been using as titular head of his party on national and international issues.

If he is elected, he is likely to have his hands so full with a hostile Democratic legislature there won't be much time for the detailed homework necessary to stay abreast of the ins and outs of national and world problems.

Rockefeller, on the other hand, would be likely to have a Republican legislature and be relatively freer to make out-of-state speeches on major issues and push the organizational work needed to win a nomination.

As governor of California and a former national GOP standard bearer, Nixon would have a strong position in the party, where he retains far wider support than Rockefeller has yet been able to assemble.

But Republicans are likely to remember that while Nixon carried California last year, he could not make the grade in New York and didn't win the presidency.

stepfather, Prof. William J. Humphrey, and is studying Italian at the University of Perugia, preparatory to taking a course in art at Florence.

Her father, Holly Cantine Jr., was one of five persons arrested during the Civil Defense nationwide "Operation Alert" last April 28 when they refused to quit the Woodstock Village Green and take cover upon orders of a police officer.

They were brought before Justice of Peace Rudolf Baumgarten and three of them, including Cantine, pleaded guilty and were sentenced to five days in jail and $25 each or 25 days in jail. They declined to pay and were committed to Ulster County jail, but after several days paid the fines and were released. The other two elected to stand trial but were found guilty and received similar sentences.

Louis XIV ruled France for 72 years between 1643 and 1715, the longest reign in modern history.

Nixon Vows . . .

view: Register Republican next year so you can vote against Nixon in the June primary.

Californians will be able to vote only for their own party candidates in that primary for the first time in modern history. Cross-filing, which allowed office-seekers to run on both tickets, was repealed by the 1959 Democratic legislature.

Nixon, brisk and confident and natty in an all-blue ensemble, told newsmen that he actually didn't decide until Tuesday night that he would go after the $40,000-a-year state job.

Only Five Knew

Only five people knew of his plans in advance, he said. They were his wife Pat, daughters Julie, 13, and Tricia, 15; former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and Kyle Palmer, ailing retired political editor of the Los Angeles Times.

Nixon opened the news conference with a 10-minute statement in which he struck hard at Gov. Brown and his Democratic administration.

"California needs a new governor," he said. "It needs a new leader."

Nixon said that after 14 years as a California congressman (1946-50) and senator (1950-52), then vice president of the United States, he found himself restive in his role as a practicing attorney.

"I find that my heart is not there—it is in public service," he said.

Disturbed by Situation

He said he was disturbed that California's state government expenditures are the highest in the nation; that law enforcement is "below the national average;" that education has been "short-changed" because of "payoffs for political boondoggling;" that employment lagged behind population growth.

Nixon said he had reached this conclusion:

"That the amiable but bungling man who presently is the governor of this state cannot clean up this mess for which he is partially and in many instances substantially responsible."

Asked why he had said yes to running after saying no earlier in the year, Nixon said party leaders had convinced him that he was the best of the available candidates: "I am the one who has the best chance and possibly the only chance (1) to win, and (2), to do the job that needs to be done in Sacramento."

Two Speeders Fined

Rosendale Vols Association Hears Favorable Report

A report of the recent Town of Rosendale Volunteer Firemen's Association drill was presented at the Tuesday night meeting of the group at Cottekill Firehouse.

Cottekill Chief Ralph Temple said that all aspects of the drill were quite successful and that the drill supplied much information on the other company's tankers. The drill was staged Sunday afternoon with the supposed fire in progress on the Lucas Avenue Turnpike adjacent to the Cottekill firehouse.

Sets Tanker Relay

Inasmuch as an immediate source of water in the Cottekill Fire District is unavailable, Chief Temple set up a tanker relay in order to see how such a relay would function in the event of an actual fire in the Cottekill District. Pumpers from Tillson and Rosendale were stationed in strategic positions to fight the fire and to empty the tankers. Tankers from Binnewater, Cottekill, High Falls and Marbletown were pressed into service to relay water from Binnewater to Cottekill.

Bloomington's pumper was also used as a tanker and a pumper from Binnewater was stationed at a water hole in that district to fill the tankers as they were emptied.

Approximately 25 volunteers participated in the exercise and refreshments were served.

Chief Robert Markle of Rosendale said the next township sponsored drill will be conducted by his company on Sunday afternoon, October 15, somewhere in Rosendale's District. The exact location of the drill will be kept secret until the appointed day when an alarm will be sounded summoning Rosendale who will in turn summon the other mutual aid companies of the association.

Reports on County

Charles Peterson reporting on the recent Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association meeting in Mt. Tremper said Herb Faurote, current president of the Township Association had been elected as second vice president of the County Association.

He further mentioned that according to custom, when the vice president succeeds to president, his home company plays host to the county convention that year. This means that Bloomington and the Township of Rosendale Associationn will host the annual Ulster County Firemen's convention in 1964. Faurote stated that plans were already in progress and said that further discussion on the subject will be brought up shortly.

Captain Donald Walsh of the High Falls Fire Department said he was attending in response to an invitation that the High Falls organization join the association inasmuch as part of their district lies in the Township of Rosendale. Walsh made several inquiries and asked that a representative from the association be present at the next High Falls meeting to explain the workings of the organization. Several delegates said they would attend.

A partial report was given on the progress of the Mutual Aid committee. It was stated that the full plan should be worked out within a very short time and then presented to Country Fire Coordinator Winfred Snyder for his approval. It was also mentioned that the complete plan would be announced to all firemen in the township.

President Faurote said the next meeting of the association would be held in Rosendale firehouse Tuesday evening, Oct. 24.

Ritual Like That for King

Dag Given Unmatched Pomp for Commoner

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Sweden today honored Dag Hammarskjold with a solemn ceremony unmatched in pomp for any commoner in this nation's long history.

The bodies of the late United Nations secretary-general and nine others who perished with him in a plane crash in the Congo arrived here escorted by eight jet fighters.

Hammarskjold's saddened countrymen received him with honors usually accorded only to a king who has fallen in battle.

More than 300 soldiers paraded. A 43-man army band played the royal death march at Stockholm's Bromma Airport, the airport from which Hammarskjold departed eight years ago to take up his post at the United Nations.

As the band started playing with muffled drums, Hammarskjold's coffin was carried from a hangar and placed on a catafalque in the center of a square formed by soldiers and Red Cross personnel standing at attention.

A chilly breeze fluttered the flags of five nations—the United States, Sweden, Haiti, Canada and Ireland. Those are the countries of the other victims of the plane crash that took Hammarskjold's life.

Twenty-one Swedish soldiers carrying blue and yellow Swedish flags and the United Nations banner formed the background as the coffins of the other victims were carried to other catafalques wrapped in the flags of their countries.

Ambassador Johan Beck-Friss placed on each of the coffins a green wreath with a blue and yellow ribbon—the monogram of the Swedish king. That was a tribute by the royal family to the victims of the Ndola crash, which killed eight other Swedes beside Hammarskjold, three Americans, one Canadian, one Irishman, one Haitian and one Swiss. Five of the coffins of Swedish victims were delivered in Malmoe, hometown of the crew of the Hammarskjold plane.

Premier Tage Erlander put a large green wreath with white lilacs on the coffins of Hammarskjold and the other victims.

A state funeral for Hammarskjold will be held Friday at the ancient university town of Uppsala. The ritual follows that reserved for Swedish royalty and never accorded to a commer in this century.

Rotarians Hear Talk on Thule

The great importance of the element of time was vividly brought to the attention of Kingston Rotarians Wednesday by Colonel Edward Locke of Great Barrington, Mass., who had as his topic Thule, Greenland, where the United States has the largest radar station in the world.

The colonel, who was stationed at the atomic testing grounds in the South Pacific and at Thule, gave a first-hand account of what a 30-minute warning would mean to our protective forces, defense weapons and to the country in the event of a surprise enemy attack. Destruction of our powerful defense weapons on the ground would render us helpless. The strategic location of the radar station, the spread of Communist control and influence and the United States position with allies and neutrals were outlined with the aid of graphs.

In his description of the island, the largest in the world, which in sor places is covered with an icecap 1,500 feet thick, he told of living conditions in temperatures of 60 degrees below zero and gale winds up to 150 miles an hour. The primitive conditions was graphically compared with those which would exist in bomb shelters.

Greenland is a Danish colonial possession and the majority of inhabitants are Eskimos, who subsist by fishing, sealing and hunting.

The speaker was presented by Frederic Snyder.

Girl, 16, Escapes

Parents and Six Children Perish In Ontario Fire

PORT DOVER, Ont. (AP) — Eight members of a family—the father, mother and six children—died early today in their blazing home near this Lake Erie community.

The only occupant of the house to escape was a daughter who was taken to hospital in serious condition from burns.

Dead are Joseph Rosewell, 51; his wife, Pauline, 41; Robert, 20; Shirley, 13; Joan, 11; Ella, 9; Joseph Jr., 4; and Terry Allan, 4 months.

The daughter, Mary, 16 escaped. A neighbor, Harry Kniffen, saw the fire and saw Mary running down the street screaming.

Could Be Nixon

asked if he agreed with this appraisal.

"No, I really don't," the governor said.

Rockefeller, in answer to several questions on the subject, said it was "premature" to discuss presidential politics at this time. But he insisted, as he has on previous occasions, that he saw no reason to pledge himself for a full, four-year term if re-elected next year.

The governor was in this Western New York city on a three-day political and governmental visit.

The tour ends Friday.

Talks About Jobs

Rockefeller told a gathering of area businessmen Wednesday night that unemployment in the state had dropped by 90,000—to 460,000—from July to August of this year.

But he also pointed out that the total number of jobless was slightly above the August 1960 level.

While Rockefeller does not plan any official, presidential activity in the near future, Nixon's decision against the 1964 bid could touch off early skirmishing between Rockefeller and Goldwater.

Rockefeller has been striving in recent months to picture himself as an orthodox, organization Republican in full agreement with traditional, GOP beliefs. He has rejected publicly the label of "liberal" on the ground that the term, along with "conservative," was left over from depression days and was no longer relevant.

U.S. Voice Only 'Peep' for Lack Of Enough Funds

Senator Jacob J. Javits (R-N.Y.) last night here called for a "crash program" to close a gap between U. S. and Communist propaganda efforts, and substantial funds to expand the United States Information Service.

Javits contended that Uncle Sam with "his big stick" has a voice that is "merely a peep." He said this country puts its USI "through a wringer" over a budget of $130 million, and he added, "the Soviet Union spends 20 times as much for propaganda."

The New York senator said the Soviet Union is now broadcasting 1,000 hours a week, Communist China 680, the United Arab Republic 670 and the United States 660.

Javits spoke before 150 civic and business leaders at a program in the Governor Clinton Hotel marking the inauguration of a new 5,000-watt transmitter by Radio Station WGHQ and its move into new studios and offices at 82 John Street.

"Think of that," Javits said to the group, "the free world's No. 1 nation ranks fourth in the propaganda battle for men's minds."

The speaker said the USIA is directed by "able, competent men, but they are jacketed by inadequate funds."

Failure to supplement military and economic offensive "represents potentially one of the most crucial mistakes we can make in the death-or-life struggle with Communists," Javits said.

The Senator added that a United Nations study which showed nearly 70 per cent of the world's people lack "even the barest means of bejng informed about developments at home, let alone in other countries."

In the Far East, newspapers reach only seven million out of a population of 767 million, one quarter of the world's population, Javits said.

Javits expressed deep concern because he contended this country is losing the battle of words with Russia. He said he would use last night's ceremonies to launch his drive for an accelerated propaganda program.

Hint Syria-Egypt

nounce the dissolution of the United Arab Republic."

At one point, the Damascus radio claimed that Amer, Nasser's chief reliance in crushing the revolt, had been arrested in the predawn uprising.

It also declared all ports and airfields had been closed—to prevent reinforcement of the Egyptians—and that the rebels were "fully in control of the situation" in all parts of Syria.

The revolutionaries also claimed the support of the U.A.R. air force commander in Syria and the army commanders in western and southern Syria. Northern tribesmen around Aleppo were reported backing Nasser, however.

Then Damascus radio announced that the revolutionary command had met with Amer and worked out an understanding.

"Military questions have now gone back to their normal course with reliance and trust in the wisdom of the commander in chief of the armed forces and the commander of the 1st (Syrian) army, about carrying out the objectives of the armed forces and of the United Arab Republic," the communique said.

"We are lucky to achieve the aims of the United Arab Republic armed forces command," the communique added.

The broadcast said the rebels had submitted the problems and aims of the army to Amer who "expressed understanding of the true state of affairs of the army and took adequate measures to solve these problems."

What the problems were was not explained.

Nasser had warned the rebels earlier in a Cairo broadcast that he had issued orders for the 15,000 well-armed Egyptian soldiers in Syria to march on Damascus, the Syrian capital, and stamp out the uprising. Broadcasts from Aleppo in northern Syria said northern Syrian tribes were standing by Nasser.

September Jurors Discharged Today

Jurors attending the September trial term of County Court were excused for the term today by County Judge Raymond J. Mino. During the term several civil and criminal cases have been heard by the jurors.

In discharging the jurors Judge Mino thanked them for their services and expressed his appreciation for the duty as jurors which they have given the county.

Referring to the inconvenience to which the jurors had been put during the term, due to lack of facilities at the court house, Judge Mino told the jurors to return home and acquaint their neighbors with the crowded condition which existed at the court house to the end that the condition may be remedied.

During the September term of County Court both County Judge Mino and Acting County Judge Francis X. Tucker have conducted trials. Both courts sat at times for disposition of cases and at one stage of the term, when other facilities were lacking, Judge Mino and Acting County Judge Tucker were compelled to alternate in using the court room, other facilities being in use.

Jurors were excused for the term and paid mileage and compensation and court recessed until Friday without a jury when additional criminal matters will be disposed of.

The April grand jury, which has been in session since that time, will make its final report to the court Friday. A new Grand Jury panel will attend the October term of Supreme Court which will convene Monday with Justice William Deckelman presiding.

But Will Agree to $1,300 Fee

Albany Attorney Opposes Outside School Bus Runs

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A Cadillac-owner who won a $1,300 contract from a school district to drive his two daughters to a private school says he objects to the state law that permits such transportation outside school districts.

The viewpoints of Walter F. Wessendorf Jr., a 32-year-old lawyer, were reported today in a copyrighted story in the Knickerbocker News.

The contract with Wessendorf, who has two 1959 Cadillacs licensed as buses, was made public Tuesday, but he had not been available to reporters seeking to learn his stand.

Warns of Bankruptcy

"Sure, I'm going to sign the contract," he said when interviewed. "I'll sign unless Rocky (Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller) calls a special session of the Legislature to repeal the law."

The newly effective law requires school districts to provide transportation to pupils to nonpublic schools within 10 miles of their homes.

"I don't think there should be any transportation outside school districts," Wessendorf said. "If it continues, it will bankrupt all school districts."

But, he added:

"I didn't go into this with a point in mind, such as showing that the law is full of holes. I'm actually saving the school district money."

Further, he said, "I'm legally and morally right."

Wessendorf's bid for the contract was $160 lower than the only other bid, a spokesman for the school district said.

Figures He'll Lose Money

"I'll probably lose $2,000 for the year, not counting my time," the tall, pipe-smoking attorney said.

He pointed out that he needed special insurance "that'll cost me $300 more" and had to figure depreciation, gasoline "and all the incidentals."

"When I was young, I walked to school," commented his wife, Roberta.

"So did I," said Wessendorf.

The Wessendorfs live in suburban Westmere, about eight miles from the Albany Academy for Girls, the school they chose for their daughters, Marcia, 7 and Chanty, 5. The school said the total tuition for two girls of that age would be about $1,000, not including books, meals and uniforms.

Alton U. Farnsworth, superintendent of Wessendorf's school district, told a reporter:

Must Live With Law

"We don't like the law, but we have to live with it."

Said State Sen. Edward J. Speno, Republican who sponsored the law:

"I presume this is an attempt to unfairly attack the principle of the legal right of a parent to transport his children or have his children transported to the nearest private school of the parents' religious denomination."

Albany Academy is non-denominational.

Some Korean Vets Now Will Receive Special Dividend

As a result of a new law signed Sept. 13, 1961, approximately 393,000 Korean veterans who have converted or exchanged their "RS" insurance policies for "W" insurance, will receive a special dividend.

An additional 243,000 Korean veterans who have not yet changed from "RS" to "W" insurance may become eligible for the dividend if they convert or exchange their policies for the new type "W" insurance within two years from the date the law was signed.

A sum of $65,000,000 is available for distribution in this special dividend to liquidate a surplus built up in this non-participating "RS" insurance. About $35,000,000 will go to the policy holders who have already changed to "W" insurance. The payments are expected to average approximately $90 for each policyholder, depending on the size of his "RS" policy and the number of months it has been in force.

"RS" insurance was issued as 5-year term policies to Korean veterans discharged between Apr. 25, 1951 and Dec. 31, 1956. They could not be converted to a permanent plan or insurance and were not eligible for dividends. A law effective Jan. 1, 1959 established the new type "W" insurance and made "RS" policies eligible for conversion or exchange for this insurance on either a permanent or a five year plan.

Payment of the dividend is automatic and no application is necessary. Individual requests and inquries may cause delay in the payment of the dividend. Policyholders who have already converted to the "W" insurance will receive their dividend early in December. At the same time, Korean veterans who still hold "RS" policies will receive application blanks for conversion or exchange for "W" insurance, and notices advising them of the amount of their dividend should they elect to make the change. This is a one-time only dividend and not a regular dividend.

If any Korean veteran who has not converted his "RS" insurance to a "W" policy desires assistance in making application for conversion, complete insurance information may be obtained at Ulster County Veterans Service Agency, 32 Main Street, Kingston, N. Y.

Observe Letter Writing Week Here October 1-7

The 24th annual Letter Writing Week will be celebrated in Kingston, October 1 to 7, it was announced today by Postmaster Oscar V. Newkirk.

Postmaster Newkirk noted that a letter "is the most economical and personal way to extend greetings, communicate social news, and exchange ideas."

During Letter Writing Week, Postmaster Newkirk suggests that you write at least two letters: One to a friend or relative from whom you have not heard in a long time, and the second as a reply to a friend or relative who recently wrote to you.

He also urged correspondence to people in other countries as a means of promoting greater understanding among people of different nations.

The slogan of this year's event, as indicated on more than 200,000 banners, is "Letters are Links to Friendship." The display materials will appear on post office bulletin boards, and rural carrier vehicles, as well as in various schools and libraries.

Home Builders

he has termed "very informative."

Although receiving major attention, the subject of fallout shelters is only part of the heavy agenda at the meeting here attended by approximately 1,000 persons representing the 18 local builder associations affiliated with the state organization.

Another part of the four-day program, which is designed to assist home owners, is a "shirt-sleeve workshop" in which builders and manufacturers of materials and equipment will discuss ways to build better homes at lower cost.

Mrs. Steinmetz Injured Today In Train Mishap

5. A withdrawal of foreign troops from alien territories.

6. Measures against further spreading of nuclear weapons. This echoed Kennedy's proposal that nuclear powers pledge not to give nuclear weapons to other nations.

7. Establishment of atom free zones in Africa and Central Europe.

8. Measures to lessen the danger of a surprise attack.

The memorandum said these proposals could be considered separately or together and could be taken up without diverting attention from general disarmament efforts.

Asks Explanation

Shortly before the memorandum came out Gromyko and Secretary of State Dean Rusk had a four-hour talk at the Soviet Foreign Minister's headquarters.

Rusk was understood to have urged Gromyko to explain what the Soviets mean by "guaranteed access" to West Berlin after they sign a peace treaty with Communist East Germany.

In another development, Ghana, India, the United Arab Republic and Venezuela called for an urgent assembly investigation into the death of Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold in a plane crash in Northern Rhodesia Sept. 17. They asked that the matter be placed on the assembly's agenda.

Behind-scenes efforts continued, meanwhile, to get assembly action on a stopgap successor for Hammarskjold. Representatives of a 12-nation group met privately on Wednesday night to consider further a possible resolution that would have the assembly approve the naming of a stop-gap candidate to supervise the operation of the secretariat until a regular secretary-general can be agreed upon.

Several Considered

Candidates under consideration include the assembly president, Mongi Slim of Tunisia, Ambassador U Thant of Burma, Frederick H. Boland of Ireland, past assembly president, and Ambassador Ralph Enckell of Finland.

The Soviets have suggested appointment of one top official with three deputies. They would have to agree on all decisions. The Western powers turned down the proposal on grounds unanimous decision on all issues amounted to a built-in veto.

Funeral services for Hammarskjold will take place in Stockholm Friday. Assembly President Slim, U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson and a number of other top U.N. delegates are expected to fly there for the service.

Geared to handle 20,000 forms in a week, the Albany office received 75,000 forms in a single day.

In evaluating the new system, Motor Vehicle Commissioner William S. Hults said:

I respect your experience and will value your advice." R. F.

A) I think you should be commended. You seem to have made a good comeback from one of life's most distressing experiences. You should still be able to attain a good financial position before your working days are over.

My suggestion is that you take the initial step by formulating an investment plan at once. You should decide first just how to use the funds as they become available. I recommend that they be divided in such a way as to place one-third in a savings account and two-thirds in good common stocks.

Secondly, you should choose your investment vehicle. I would consider the Monthly Investment Plan, which is available through most members of the New York Stock Exchange. This plan permits a person to make periodical purchases of stocks in small — but worthwhile — amounts.

You should find it easy to invest about $40 each month in your MIP. This won't seem like a whole lot in the beginning, but after a few years the results could be surprising.

I would start my MIP with Sterling Drug, an aggressive situation with excellent growth prospects over the long pull.

Q) "Flying Tiger, bought for growth and income, has disappointed us. Shall we sell?" C. L.

BOY'S DEPT.

But Will Agree to $1,300 Fee

Albany Attorney Opposes Outside School Bus Runs

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A Cadillac-owner who won a $1,300 contract from a school district to drive his two daughters to a private school says he objects to the state law that permits such transportation outside school districts.

The viewpoints of Walter F. Wessendorf Jr., a 32-year-old lawyer, were reported today in a copyrighted story in the Knickerbocker News.

The contract with Wessendorf, who has two 1959 Cadillacs licensed as buses, was made public Tuesday, but he had not been available to reporters seeking to learn his stand.

Warns of Bankruptcy

"Sure, I'm going to sign the contract," he said when interviewed. "I'll sign unless Rocky (Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller) calls a special session of the Legislature to repeal the law."

The newly effective law requires school districts to provide transportation to pupils to nonpublic schools within 10 miles of their homes.

"I don't think there should be any transportation outside school districts," Wessendorf said. "If it continues, it will bankrupt all school districts."

But, he added:

"I didn't go into this with a point in mind, such as showing that the law is full of holes. I'm actually saving the school district money."

Further, he said, "I'm legally and morally right."

Figures He'll Lose Money

"I'll probably lose $2,000 for the year, not counting my time," the tall, pipe-smoking attorney said.

He pointed out that he needed special insurance "that'll cost me $300 more" and had to figure depreciation, gasoline "and all the incidentals."

"When I was young, I walked to school," commented his wife, Roberta.

"So did I," said Wessendorf.

The Wessendorfs live in suburban Westmere, about eight miles from the Albany Academy for Girls, the school they chose for their daughters, Marcia, 7 and Chanty, 5. The school said the total tuition for two girls of that age would be about $1,000, not including books, meals and uniforms.

Alton U. Farnsworth, superintendent of Wessendorf's school district, told a reporter:

Must Live With Law

"We don't like the law, but we have to live with it."

Said State Sen. Edward J. Speno, Republican who sponsored the law:

"I presume this is an attempt to unfairly attack the principle of the legal right of a parent to transport his children or have his children transported to the nearest private school of the parents' religious denomination."

Albany Academy is non-denominational.

Some Korean Vets Now Will Receive Special Dividend

As a result of a new law signed Sept. 13, 1961, approximately 393,000 Korean veterans who have converted or exchanged their "RS" insurance policies for "W" insurance, will receive a special dividend.

An additional 243,000 Korean veterans who have not yet changed from "RS" to "W" insurance may become eligible for the dividend if they convert or exchange their policies for the new type "W" insurance within two years from the date the law was signed.

A sum of $65,000,000 is available for distribution in this special dividend to liquidate a surplus built up in this non-participating "RS" insurance. About $35,000,000 will go to the policy holders who have already changed to "W" insurance. The payments are expected to average approximately $90 for each policyholder, depending on the size of his "RS" policy and the number of months it has been in force.

"RS" insurance was issued as 5-year term policies to Korean veterans discharged between Apr. 25, 1951 and Dec. 31, 1956. They could not be converted to a permanent plan or insurance and were not eligible for dividends. A law effective Jan. 1, 1959 established the new type "W" insurance and made "RS" policies eligible for conversion or exchange for this insurance on either a permanent or a five year plan.

Payment of the dividend is automatic and no application is necessary. Individual requests and inquries may cause delay in the payment of the dividend. Policyholders who have already converted to the "W" insurance will receive their dividend early in December. At the same time, Korean veterans who still hold "RS" policies will receive application blanks for conversion or exchange for "W" insurance, and notices advising them of the amount of their dividend should they elect to make the change. This is a one-time only dividend and not a regular dividend.

If any Korean veteran who has not converted his "RS" insurance to a "W" policy desires assistance in making application for conversion, complete insurance information may be obtained at Ulster County Veterans Service Agency, 32 Main Street, Kingston, N. Y.

Observe Letter Writing Week Here October 1-7

The 24th annual Letter Writing Week will be celebrated in Kingston, October 1 to 7, it was announced today by Postmaster Oscar V. Newkirk.

Postmaster Newkirk noted that a letter "is the most economical and personal way to extend greetings, communicate social news, and exchange ideas."

During Letter Writing Week, Postmaster Newkirk suggests that you write at least two letters: One to a friend or relative from whom you have not heard in a long time, and the second as a reply to a friend or relative who recently wrote to you.

He also urged correspondence to people in other countries as a means of promoting greater understanding among people of different nations.

The slogan of this year's event, as indicated on more than 200,000 banners, is "Letters are Links to Friendship." The display materials will appear on post office bulletin boards, and rural carrier vehicles, as well as in various schools and libraries.

County Judge Mino received the report of the jury in the supervisor's room of the court house, having given way to the Democratic County Committee organizational meeting which was in session in the court room. NEW YORK (AP) — Network television Wednesday night held the promose of a solid 3½ hours of comedy: premiér of Steve Allen's show and the debut of a new animated cartoon series on ABC and a Victor Borge and a Jack Benny special on CBS.

Borge, aided by Hermione Gingold, pianist Leonid Hambro and some very witty music and dancing, measured up handsomely. Steve Allen was back in a familiar format but perhaps trying a little too hard.

The animated cartoon, "Top Cat," was disappointing. And the show called "Carnegie Hall Salutes Jack Benny," was an hour of fine classical music by great artists with only a few minutes devoted to funny stuff.

It is nice to have Steve Allen back in weekly television. His show seems better organized than the old one and more thoroughly rehearsed. But maybe Steve has not been watching much television during his year and a half away from it. Much of his sketch material was old hat and the subjects have often been explored on other comedy shows.

"Top Cat," by the creators of "Huckleberry Hound," concerns the adventures of a band of alley cats with New York accents who live by their wits. The first show seemed neither witty nor unusual. But perhaps animated cartoon comedies, like olives, are acquired tastes with some viewers.

The Borge show, like his past specials, was a happy blend of good music and broad comedy.

Recommended tonight: "Dr. Kildare," premiere, NBC, 8:30-9:30 (Eastern Daylight Time)—New doctor series based on an old movie series, with Raymond Massey and Vincent Edwards; "Hazel," premiere, CBS, 9:30-10—Shirley Booth's comedy series in which she plays an indomitable maid; "Sing Along with Mitch," season premiere, NBC, 10-11—return of the hit show of last season.

matter of Fact

When is a viceroy a monarch? In the butterfly world, the answer is simple. Monarch butterflies taste bad and are avoided by many animals. Viceroy butterflies gain safety by looking as much like the monarch as they can.

Cold War Diplomatic Luncheon Lasts 4 Hours

There's Small Talk, Formality; Nobody Angers or Raises Voice

By SAUL PETT

NEW YORK (AP)—What is a diplomatic luncheon like in the cold war?

It is four hours long. It is half small talk, half big talk and half of the second half is taken up with translation.

The food is good, the wine chilled to perfection and everyone is well-mannered and polite. The tone of their conversation never reflects the fact that both countries involved have rockets with nuclear warheads aimed at each other.

Nobody at a cold-war diplomatic luncheon loses his temper. Nobody raises his voice. Nobody even implies the other man may be a liar although nobody assumes he isn't.

That Way Wednesday

It was that way Wednesday when Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet foreign minister, played host to Dean Rusk, U.S. secretary of state, in their continuing talks on the Berlin crisis. Each man had six aides and an interpreter with him.

The scene was the brick home of the Soviet delegation to the United Nations, on Park Avenue and 68th street, a neighborhood best known for capitalists and psychoanalysts.

Promptly at one, Rusk and the other Americans began to arrive, also in black Cadillacs. Adlai E. Stevenson had some trouble getting in since the Soviet attendants had just slammed the door on photographers and were not immediately convinced this was the U.S. ambassador to the U.N.

Inside, the Americans were led up a broad circular staircase to a reception room.

Symbolizes Troika

There was time for one drink, the favorites being orange juice, vodka and cordials, separately. Clowning for cameramen, Gromyko held up three fingers toward Stevenson, symbolizing the Soviets' troika plan for the U.N.

"Three of a kind are only good in a poker game," said Stevenson.

"Then how about three vodkas?" said Gromyko.

"I'll take one," said Stevenson.

In diplomatic luncheon circles, this is considered boffo humor.

Gromyko led his guests into a high-ceilinged dining room, where the silverware and china sparkled but the landscape oil paintings on the walls had an inspirational quality usually seen only in chain hotels.

The Menu

The participants were seated around a round table, places for 14, each including four glasses for water, vodka, white wine, red wine and cognac. For openers the diplomats ate smoked salmon, black caviar, tomatoes and cucumbers.

The fish course was "yellow pike, Polish style." The meat was chopped steak, tasty but decidedly more proletarian than the Cornish hen served last week to the Soviets by Rusk. Dessert was strawberries and cream, then coffee and liqueurs.

For more than an hour, the diplomats ate, sipped and made small talk about their home towns, their common experiences in Europe, the weather, noncontroversial aspects of the U.N. and professional baseball.

Become Precise

But once the chit-chat ended and they got down to serious business—Berlin — each side reverted to its own language and used interpreters so that their meanings could be precisely understood.

The business end of the meeting began after liqueurs when Gromyko rose and led his guests back to the reception room.

Rusk and Gromyko did most of the talking. They addressed each other as "Mr. Minister" and "Mr. Secretary." Nobody here used first names.

A Lot of Translation

They talked almost two hours, half of this taken up by translation. They talked seriously and took no side tracks into idle diversion or humor. It was completely businesslike, according to an American, but not completely grim or without an occasional smile.

At the close, they shook hands perfunctorily. Gromyko saw Rusk to his car. As newsmen closed in on the sidewalk, Gromyko spread his arms and said, "What you want, boys?" as though he were helpless putty in their hands.

He wasn't.

House Leaders Adament

'Let 'Em Holler' Retort to Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — House leaders have taken a "let 'em holler" attitude toward stormy Senate complaints about the wind-up of the congressional session.

The 1961 session came to a whirlwind—and angry—close early Wednesday morning. The House quit two hours before the Senate, forcing the Senate to go along with every detail in a big money measure. Any change would have killed the bill and forced President Kennedy to call a special session to get the needed funds for several government agencies.

House leaders disclaimed any intention of denying the Senate a chance to alter the bill if it wanted to.

But they said they had been assured at a conference attended by Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana and nine members of the Senate Appropiations Committee that the compromise was acceptable and would be passed by the Senate in short order. Mansfield later called the House adjournment outrageous.

"Let's find out whether the House of Representatives can affront the Senate," thundered Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois before the Senate finally passed the measure and adjourned.

Rep. Clarence Cannon, D-Mo., told a newsman "they got caught in their own trap."

Cannon, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, added: "Mansfield knew all about it. We understood that the Senate would go along with the bill. They knew we were going to quit as soon as we passed it."

A top House spokesman who didn't want to be identified because of "the comity" between the two branches, said he suspected the cries of anguish from the Senate were the result of "offended dignity more than anything else."

"For years they have called the shots on adjournment," he said. "They have let the House sit around for hours with nothing to do while senators made longwinded speeches before adopting a final adjournment resolution so we could go home. This year we got the jump on them and it apparently has hurt their feeling of superiority."

Kites Must Go

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Louis J. Christen Jr. complained a helicopter severed the string leading to a kite he was flying from a tennis courts area of Forest Park. "What action does one take to avenge such an unkind deed?" Christen demanded. The kiteflyer lost another round when the matter was submitted to Ian M. Crowder, acting park commissioner. Crowder noted the tennis courts had been authorized as a mid-town landing area for helicopters and said he would ban kite flying in the area.

The worker handed the governor a check.

Deck Officers Open West Coast Strike

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Deck officers on vessels in West Coast ports today begin a ship-by-ship strike.

They voted the strike Wednesday after prolonged and snarled negotiations.

Affected are some 650 members of the Masters, Mates and Pilots Association, 13 companies represented by the Pacific Maritime Association (PMA).

Atlantic and Gulf shipping was not affected.

The West Coast local of the union approved the strike after union negotiators rejected a final offer of a four-year contract proposing an increase of about 11 per cent in wage and fringe benefits.

The Mates and four other maritime unions struck June 16. The strike ended under a Taft-Hartley law injunction and negotiations with the various unions continued.

The Mates and PMA continued to bargain after expiration of the Taft-Hartley injunction ended.

The strike could eventually tie up 134 ships operated by members of the PMA.

Outlook Is Dim For Quick Pact With Ford Motors

By DWIGHT PITKIN

DETROIT (AP) — Prospects of Ford Motor Co. and the United Auto Workers union reaching a complete settlement on a labor contract within the next few days appeared to have diminished today.

Another week may be required. The negotiations are continuing under secrecy wraps.

This was indicated Wednesday when the bargaining teams split up into subcommittees to study contract changes sought by both the company and the union.

Three subcommittees have been assigned to deal with contract language covering pensions, insurance and supplemental unemployment benefits. These are some of the areas in which the union is trying to gain from Ford a better settlement than it made with General Motors.

A fourth subcommittee was set up to work on problems at Ford's steel plant in Dearborn, Mich.

More than two months ago Ford proposed changes in the working agreement affecting steel workers at the company's Rouge Plant.

Ford Monday offered the union a three-year contract paralleling the settlement made last week with General Motors. The union said this was not enough.

The GM settlement gives UAW members an increase of more than 12 cents an hour each year in take home pay and provides extra benefits in insurance, pensions and hospital-medical care.

Editor, The Freeman

While an act of kindness and honesty may not be news, I am happy to share a personal experience with your readers if you deem it worthy of a little space in your columns.

Yesterday, I very carelessly left my wallet containing a considerable sum of money in the foyer of the Kingston Trust Company. A Good Samaritan, Mrs. Leo E. Hart of 258 Hasbrouck Avenue, who is a stranger to me, found the wallet and turned it in at the counter of the bank who in turn notified me.

Any person who stops to consider how difficult it would be to replace all the important documents one carries in one's wallet, will readily understand how appreciative I am of Mrs. Hart's kindness in seeing to it that I got my wallet and its contents back. Surely, hers was a neighborly act that is deserving of commendation.

Sincerely,

Editor, The Freeman

While an act of kindness and honesty may not be news, I am happy to share a personal experience with your readers if you deem it worthy of a little space in your columns.

Yesterday, I very carelessly left my wallet containing a considerable sum of money in the foyer of the Kingston Trust Company. A Good Samaritan, Mrs. Leo E. Hart of 258 Hasbrouck Avenue, who is a stranger to me, found the wallet and turned it in at the counter of the bank who in turn notified me.

Any person who stops to consider how difficult it would be to replace all the important documents one carries in one's wallet, will readily understand how appreciative I am of Mrs. Hart's kindness in seeing to it that I got my wallet and its contents back. Surely, hers was a neighborly act that is deserving of commendation.

Sincerely,
CLAIR S. SHEAFFER

Separate Nations Despite Political Ties

'Arab Unity' Regarded by Syrians As Steady Egyptian Move for Lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"Arab Unity" was the theme proclaimed by President Gamal Abdel Nasser when Egypt and Syria were joined under his leadership as the United Arab Republic on Feb. 1, 1958.

To most Syrians, the "unity" has appeared more and more a steady advance of Egyptian control in the past 3½ years.

The key geographical fact about Egypt and Syria is that, despite their political ties, they are separate nations and had been for centuries. Lying between the two states are parts of Israel, Jordan, and Lebanon—a distance of about 100 miles.

Political considerations worked toward a merger in 1958, when Communists were infiltrating the Syrian government. Led by Syrian President Shukri Kuwatly, a delegation of politicians went to Cairo late in 1957 and sought a union between the two states.

They were alarmed by Syria's growing ties with the Soviet Union. Nasser, willing if not enthusiastic, saw the merger as a step toward his ambition for a united Arab World.

Union brought an end to the Syrian Communist party, which was outlawed as it had been in Egypt. But it also brought a decline in the power of Syria's politicians. There now is only one Syrian vice president among the U.A.R.'s seven. Separate executive councils for the two regions were abolished last month, and administration was consolidated in Cairo, the capital of Egypt and the U.A.R.

Economically, Syria and Egypt compliment each other. Most of Egypt's more than 25 million people are crowded into the fertile Nile Valley. Syria has about 5 million and land to spare.

Most of the people in both areas are farmers.

Before World War I Syria was under Turkish domination. But the French, claiming interest in Syria dating back to the Crusades, obtained a League of Nations mandate over the country in 1921.

Syrians struggled for their own independence, and in 1930 France recognized the country as an independent republic but still subject to mandate.

In World War II Syria was occupied by the British and Free French. The latter agreed to terminate the mandate.

Syria emerged in the postwar years as a truly independent republic—but still with plenty of unrest and unsolved political problems. It had the largest left wing in the Arab world.

Urges Rutland Chief to Drop Pay Cut Demand

RUTLAND, Vt. (AP)—Gov. F. Ray Keyser Jr. suggests that William I. Ginsburg, president of the strike-bound Rutland Railway, retract his demands for the union to accept a 19-cent an hour pay cut.

The governor, a Republican, said the responsibility for creating a favorable climate for negotiating rested squarely with Ginsburg.

Federal mediator Tedford Schoonover said no arbitration sessions were scheduled today in the four-day-old strike.

The strike, second in a year-long dispute over wages, was called Monday by four operating brotherhoods to enforce their demands for wage boosts of eight cents an hour for 400 employes. Picketing has been peaceful.

Sally Lashes Formosa

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Sally, a powerful tropical storm that started out as a typhoon, lashed southeast Formosa today, flooding lowlying areas of this Nationalist Chinese capital city.

Sally hit Formosa with typhoon-force winds of 92 miles an hour and heavy rains, then dropped to 72 miles an hour when it struck the north-south mountains chain across the island.

There were no immediate reports of severe damage or casualties.

Kremlin Says U.S. Carrying Cold War Into Vienna Talks

VIENNA, Austria (AP) —The Soviet Union accused the United States today of carrying the cold war into the International Atomic Energy Agency and attempting to turn it into an instrument of Western military interests.

Vasily Emelyanov, chief Soviet delegate to the agency's general conference here, also charged IAEA was secretly involved in U.S. plans to station five nuclear Polaris submarines in North Atlantic Treaty Organization countries.

In a speech to delegations from the 76 member countries, Emelyanov, a nuclear scientist, said the United States was "doing everything to submit IAEA to its military interests."

"The U.S. State Department is attempting to create a cold war atmosphere in this organization," he asserted. "But the Soviet Union will not accept this."

Emelyanov said a current IAEA project to study the possibilities for berthing nuclear-propulsion ships in the Copenhagen, Denmark, harbor was in fact a military scheme.

"There is only one peaceful ship with nuclear propulsion in the world—the Soviet icebreaker Lenin. But she will never go to Copenhagen," Emelyanov said. "It appears that Copenhagen harbor is being prepared for the transfer of American nuclear submarines to NATO countries—with the help of IAEA."

Glenn T. Seaborg, chairman of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission and chief U.S. delegate here, said the Soviet attacks indicated that "sharper differences of opinion are ahead." But he said most of Emelyanov's speech "covered material that has been covered thoroughly before."

Arrest Driver After Marbletown Mishap

The driver of a car which turned over on its side during a traffic mishap Wednesday night in the Town of Marbletown, was reported uninjured, but faces a charge as an unlicensed operator, Kingston state police said today.

William J. Senkowicz, 17 of Hasbrouck Avenue, Kingston was arrested following the mishap by Troopers W. Wiedemann and Robert J. Mackey, and is scheduled to appear before Town of Marbletown Justice of the Peace Harry Scarpati on Saturday.

Troopers said Senkowicz driving a 1951 sedan was traveling east on the Peak Road, about a mile south of Route 213, when the car rounded a curve to the left, went off the left shoulder and turned over on its side. He told troopers he was forced off the highway by an identified vehicle. This mishap occurred at 9 p. m.

Three-Year-Old Hurt In Parking Lot Mishap

A three-year-old Stone Ridge girl suffered a bloody nose in a two-car crash Wednesday afternoon in the Big Scott shopping mart parking area off Route 28, Kingston state police reported.

Sharon Christiana, the injured passenger was one of seven children in the station wagon of Mrs. Carol Sheeley, 24 of Accord at the time of the mishap.

Trooper John Salters said the Sheeley vehicle was heading south into the parking area and a 1961 sedan operated by Sidney J. Mazel, 54 of Burlington, Vt., heading west, came out from between parked vehicles and was in collision with the Sheeley station wagon.

Stratton's Timetable Accurate So Far

Congressman Likely to Declare Candidacy for Gov. Late in '61

By ROBERT T. GRAY

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Rep. Samuel S. Stratton's political timetable, accurate so far, calls for him to declare his candidacy late this year for the Democratic nomination for governor.

He is expected to make an "I-am-available" statement. This is a political euphemism that usually means the start of an all-out battle for the endorsement in question.

The announcement will mark the end of Stratton's preliminary, campaign maneuvers in familiar, Upstate territory.

Must Gain Recognition

In the next phase, the congressman must gain statewide recognition from Democrats if he is to emerge as a serious contender for the nomination next summer.

Stratton, who has a keen sense of political public relations, has gained a moderate amount of attention as an up-and-coming Democrat.

He has kept up a barrage of criticism against Gov. Rockefeller. Stratton took over the role of the chief Rockefeller critic in the state Democratic organization when State Comptroller Arthur Levitt turned to New York City politics.

The congressman is a lean, black-haired man of 45 with a quick grin and a personable, grass-roots approach to voters.

The combination of youth and personality is much like the combination Rockefeller brought to politics.

Stratton's relaxes, articulate approach to the political platform stems in part from his experience as a television news commentator and stints as a lecturer at Union College and Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute.

He is a Harvard graduate, served in the U.S. Navy in World War II and in the government of occupied Japan after the war.

Stratton first gained recognition beyond his own city of Schenectady as a Democratic mayor scrapping constantly with the city manager.

Won in GOP Area

While the mayoralty usually is only an honorary position under a manager form of government, Stratton used the post to hammer away at what he held was a tie-in between the police department and the local underworld.

In 1958, he won the congressional race in the 32nd district, a traditional Republican area, the GOP had captured in 1956 by a vote of 107,000 to 51,000.

Stratton's victory vote, after an intense campaign, was 73,000 to 62,000.

He was re-elected last year. As a result of the district's switch in political allegiance, Republicans now plan to eliminate Stratton's seat as part of a general reapportionment.

Long Way to Go

Stratton's district will be combined with that of another Democrat, the veteran Leo W. O'Brien of Albany.

The imminent loss of his congressional seat probably is one of the forces propelling Stratton into a fight for the nomination for governor.

He has a long way to go in the quest.

While a few Upstate Democratic county committees with a handful of convention votes have endorsed him, he has made no apparent headway in New York City and the larger, Upstate counties. He could not gain the nomination without support of the leaders in those areas.

Stratton plans to make approaches to Mayor Robert F. Wagner and other, top party officials as part of the next phase of his state-level activities.

Some observors think Wagner may be interested in running for governor himself next year or have his own candidate to sponsor.

Stratton would have little chance of bucking Wagner in any power struggle over the nomination. The mayor's recent primary victory established him as the state's most powerful Democrat.

Whatever Stratton's ambitions, he probably will find that Wagner has unquestioned priority in the New York State Democratic Party.

Congressman Likely to Declare Candidacy for Gov. Late in '61

By ROBERT T. GRAY

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Rep. Samuel S. Stratton's political timetable, accurate so far, calls for him to declare his candidacy late this year for the Democratic nomination for governor.

He is expected to make an "I-am-available" statement. This is a political euphemism that usually means the start of an all-out battle for the endorsement in question.

The announcement will mark the end of Stratton's preliminary, campaign maneuvers in familiar, Upstate territory.

Must Gain Recognition

In the next phase, the congressman must gain statewide recognition from Democrats if he is to emerge as a serious contender for the nomination next summer.

Stratton, who has a keen sense of political public relations, has gained a moderate amount of attention as an up-and-coming Democrat.

He has kept up a barrage of criticism against Gov. Rockefeller. Stratton took over the role of the chief Rockefeller critic in the state Democratic organization when State Comptroller Arthur Levitt turned to New York City politics.

The congressman is a lean, black-haired man of 45 with a quick grin and a personable, grass-roots approach to voters.

The combination of youth and personality is much like the combination Rockefeller brought to politics.

Stratton's relaxes, articulate approach to the political platform stems in part from his experience as a television news commentator and stints as a lecturer at Union College and Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute.

He is a Harvard graduate, served in the U.S. Navy in World War II and in the government of occupied Japan after the war.

Stratton first gained recognition beyond his own city of Schenectady as a Democratic mayor scrapping constantly with the city manager.

Won in GOP Area

While the mayoralty usually is only an honorary position under a manager form of government, Stratton used the post to hammer away at what he held was a tie-in between the police department and the local underworld.

In 1958, he won the congressional race in the 32nd district, a traditional Republican area, the GOP had captured in 1956 by a vote of 107,000 to 51,000.

Stratton's victory vote, after an intense campaign, was 73,000 to 62,000.

He was re-elected last year. As a result of the district's switch in political allegiance, Republicans now plan to eliminate Stratton's seat as part of a general reapportionment.

Long Way to Go

Stratton's district will be combined with that of another Democrat, the veteran Leo W. O'Brien of Albany.

The imminent loss of his congressional seat probably is one of the forces propelling Stratton into a fight for the nomination for governor.

He has a long way to go in the quest.

While a few Upstate Democratic county committees with a handful of convention votes have endorsed him, he has made no apparent headway in New York City and the larger, Upstate counties. He could not gain the nomination without support of the leaders in those areas.

Stratton plans to make approaches to Mayor Robert F. Wagner and other, top party officials as part of the next phase of his state-level activities.

Some observors think Wagner may be interested in running for governor himself next year or have his own candidate to sponsor.

Stratton would have little chance of bucking Wagner in any power struggle over the nomination. The mayor's recent primary victory established him as the state's most powerful Democrat.

Whatever Stratton's ambitions, he probably will find that Wagner has unquestioned priority in the New York State Democratic Party.

'62 Impala Sport Coupe—with a roof line that looks like a convertible's

'62 CHEVROLET Rich new styling with Jet-smooth ride!

Here's everything a car fancier could want. Fresh-minted style that comes to a climax in the sportiest sport coupe you've seen yet. A road-gentling Jet-smooth ride. A new choice of V8 skedaddle. Rich Body by Fisher interiors. Beauty that's specially built to stay beautiful. Here in '62 is more than ever to please you from the make that pleases most people.

If you've wondered what owning an expensive car is like, here's where you find out—without the expense. Check it over from its clean-thrusting prow to its rakish rear deck. Look inside the deep-well trunk and imagine the mountain of gear it'll gobble. Step through one of those wide-opening doors and plump down on a seat the size of a sofa. Then—head for the open highway. ■ That sittin'-on-satin feeling you get is Chevrolet's famous Jet-smooth ride at work—with a pliant Full Coil spring cushioning at each wheel. The standard six and V8 are triggered to do special things on regular gas, and for real hair-trigger reflexes you have a choice of four optional-at-extra-cost V8's with output all the way up to 409 hp. ■ Hard-working helpers (like the new steel front fender underskirts that provide extra protection against flying stones and corrosive salt) give this '62 its built-for-keeps beauty. Even the heater and defroster come as standard equipment this year. This is the kind of car that will make you feel luxurious all over, and your Chevrolet dealer will be only too happy to show you how easy it is to have one of your own.

Corvair Monza Club Coupe

THE '62 CORVAIR MONZA

The car that puts sport in the driver's seat!

If you want to get a road-relishing run for your money (while neatly ducking a big run on your bank account), you've come to the right place. Step right up and meet the latest version of the car that's proved its mettle in the fiercest competition going—'62 Corvair. Bigger new brakes team up with Corvair's renowned rear-engine traction for just about the surest footed going on the road. A new Monza Station Wagon makes its debut—and you can have bucket seats* in it up front if you like. And all models sport freshly tailored upholstery inside matched by sassy new styling accents outside. Yet Corvair is still as sparing as ever on gas—and an absolute teetotaler when it comes to things like antifreeze!

This jim-dandy's got the stuff that drivers dote on. ■ Backstage you have a standard aluminum air-cooled engine that turns up 80 hp. (or if you like more razzamatazz, one that uncorks 102 hp.). Then for ladling out the power just the way you want it, you can pick from a 3-speed Synchro-Mesh transmission, a 4-speeder or Corvair Powerglide.* ■ Sure enough, there's independent suspension on all four wheels to keep the ride as amiable as ever. And there are refined brakes with more lining surface for clean on-the-spot stops. Inside, you'll see that some smart-looking things have happened. And you'll also find a heater and defroster, cigarette lighter, dual sunshades, front-door armrests and automatic choke as standard equipment on the 500 Coupe, 700 Coupe and Sedan, Monza Coupe and Sedan, Monza and 700 Station Wagons. ■ There are lots of reasons for liking what's new—and tried and true—in the '62 Corvair. Chevy II 300 2-Door Sedan—sensibility at its Sunday best

HERE'S THE NEW CHEVY II

Modern basic transportation in a totally new line of cars

It's the car just about everybody's been trying to build. But it remained for Chevrolet—the make more people depend on—to build it the way it should be built. Here are all solid, time-tested virtues you know you can count on from all the Chevrolet family—plus some surprises you've never seen on any car before. A full line of saucy new-size models, each built a new way for easier service and maintenance. Thrifty? Choice of a frugal 4- or spunky 6-cylinder engine (in most models). Roomy? Sedans seat six solid citizens, bag and baggage. Easy to drive? Just wrap your hands around the wheel and boss this one around for a little while. Price? That's one of the most pleasant surprises of them all!

This plucky new Chevy II comes about as close as a car can to perpetual motion. Beneath that fetching, fresh-shaped bonnet you'll find the kind of long-lived dependability that has always been Chevrolet's special stock in trade—a frugal 4- or a satiny 6-cylinder engine. ■ All nine models (station wagons, a hardtop, even a convertible will soon be available in the lineup) are designed to save you money and service. Major front-end sections, including fenders, bolt on for easy replacement in case of damage. More savings: The heater and defroster are yours as standard equipment. And every Chevy II rides on tough, durable—but ever-so-gentle—Mono-Plate rear springs that flex as a single unit, eliminating the friction of old-fashioned multi-leaf springs. ■ Maneuverable and sensibly sized as this Chevy II is, it gives you the kind of passenger and packing room that'll make many a "big" car wonder how it's done. Yet the price is just as sensible as the car itself, as a few well-spent moments with your dealer will convince you.

Says NJ Jetport Site Will Mean More Business

NORTH WILDWOOD, N.J. (AP) —Richard J. Hughes said today the jetport he proposes for Burlington County "will bring tourists from all over the world to our great resort areas."

The Democratic candidate for governor said, "Combined with a new east-west highway system and other transit service, the jetport will mean more business, more industry and many more jobs."

He added, "It will pay for itself many times over in ratables, greater tourist spending and greater purchasing power of an enlarged work force."

Hughes opponent, Republican candidate James P. Mitchell, also favors the Burlington County pine barrens site for the jet airport.

Gov. Robert B. Meyner, however, opposes the Burlington site and has supported a Port of New York Authority study naming the Morris County Great Swamps area as the best location.

Democrat Says People Complain When Facts Hurt

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A Democratic member of the State Investigation Commission replies to Democratic criticism of the commission:

"Often when people yell politics, it's because they don't like the facts."

Commission Chairman Goodman A. Sarachan of Rochester, a Democrat, commented Wednesday after Assemblyman Frank P. Cox, Albany Democrat, charged "politically inspired witch-hunts in Democratic territory."

Sarachan said:

"We have been in Republican territory and been accused of being anti-Republican, and in Democratic territory and accused of being anti-Democratic...In this work, we try to forget politics and stick to facts."

Sarachan was interviewed by telephone.

A recent target of the four-man, bipartisan commission has been alleged tax irregularities condoned by officials of this Democratic-controlled city.

Mitchell Feels Row With Mayor, Son Closed Now

NEW YORK (AP) —Newburgh City Manager Joseph Mitchell now terms his dispute with the Newburgh mayor and the mayor's son a "closed incident."

Mitchell had requested police protection after he said Mayor William D. Ryan and his son, William M., 21, threatened him Monday night after a council meeting.

Mayor Ryan has admitted saying "you are dead in my books" to Mitchell. Later, he said he meant it politically only.

Ryan's son, a city employe, blamed Mitchell for a recent pay cut.

Mitchell, author of his city's controversial welfare program, spoke Wednesday at a luncheon here.

Lie, Says Wood At Fake Charge

NEW YORK (AP) —Frederick Wood, on trial for first degree murder, leaped to his feet during testimony Wednesday and accused the prosecution of lying.

Wood, 48, charged with slaying two men June 30, 1960, has pleaded innocent by reason of insanity.

Dr. Frank A. Cassino, a private psychiatrist, was on the witness stand and testifying that Wood was not legally responsible for the crimes. At that point, Asst. Dist. Atty. Frank Cacciatore alluded to previous testimony that Wood once faked insanity to gain a transfer from a prison to a mental hospital.

"That's a damn lie'" shouted Wood.

He was quited by Queens County Judge Albert H. Bosch.

Wood is on trial in the stab slayings of Frederick Sess, 78, and John Rescigno, 62, in a Queens apartment. They were slain a few days after Wood was paroled after serving 17 years in the 1942 slaying of John Lowman in an Elmira, N.Y., rooming house. Wood formerly was from Elmira.

ACCEPT AWARDS FOR CHEST FILM—Special awards were presented this week to three local men who produced the Community Chest motion picture film, "Much Like Us." Vito Rigillo, (left) executive director of the Community Chest presents the awards to (l-r) Daniel Morehouse, cameraman for the film; Donald MacIsaac, who wrote the script, and Edward Cazazza, film director. Staff members of the 11 agencies of the Community Chest have increased their donation 50 per cent over last year's amount, $425, it was announced at a recent awards luncheon at the YWCA. Rigillo paid particular tribute to the YWCA and Cerebral Palsy staffs for donating more than their fair share.

The new troop carriers are not dependent on highways. Their tractor-like treads permit them to strike out across country and keep up with fast traveling tank elements. With such transportation, ground troops are in better position to exploit breakthroughs in enemy lines.

Williams Scores Mt. Marion Road Work Criticism

Saugerties Town Supervisor Peter M. Williams in a statement Wednesday objected to criticism directed at Town Highway Department employes in connection with work on a new section of Mt. Marion Road.

His statement follows:

"Town of Saugerties equipment and town highway department employes are not being used on the Mt. Marion highway project. Ulster County Highway Department is in complete charge of the Mt. Marion Road project," he said.

"In all fairness to the county, it should be explained that the project has run into great difficulty and is taking longer than first anticipated. It has been discovered by the county highway department that the base for the new secttion of highway near the old Mt. Marion railroad station, is not solid enough to support the type of road being constructed. Therefore tons of stone is being hauled for fill in order that the base for the highway may be made solid," Williams said.

Name Area Men To Farm Bureau Group on Rules

Sixteen farm leaders have been named to the State Resolution Committee of the New York Farm Bureau by its president, Donald F. Green. Among those named to the committee are two area men, Louis Hoyer of Coxsackie and William Jeffery of Millerton.

In announcing the names of those appointed to the State Resolution Committee, President Green said "farm families have realized in recent years that farm income is affected by many decisions made for them by legislators, government employes, labor union leaders, business men and others. Because farmers feel they should have a voice in the basic decisions affecting their farms and their families, they have been studying the issues in local discussion groups."

"Through a series of county, state and natinal meetings Farm Bureau members and their delegates decide by majority vote the position of their organization on these issues," Green said.

According to Green, the State Resolution Committee will summarize recommendations from county Farm Bureaus into resolution form for presentation at the state annual meeting in Binghamton Nov. 13, 14 and 15. Policy on state issues will be decided at that meeting. Membership in the New York Farm Bureau currently represents some 14,480 families.

By WHITNEY SHOEMAKER

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) —President Kennedy counted on a fair weather forecast for another boat ride today. He put relaxation, and no more work than necessary, on his program.

Kennedy has assigned Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson to discuss East-West problems with U.S. officials in Paris.

Johnson is going to Europe as head of the U.S. delegation at the funeral Friday of Dag Hammarskjold, United Nations secretary-general, in Stockholm, Sweden.

The senior people are James M. Gavin, U.S. ambassador to France; Thomas K. Finletter, U.S. ambassador to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization; and Gen. Lauris Norstad, commander of Allied forces in Europe.

The President took his family for a cruise Wednesday on the presidential yacht Honey Fitz af- A. McCone as director o66M— ter appointing Republican John A. McCone as director of the Central Intelligence agency, starting in November.

Armored Vehicles For Swift Travel Are Due in 1962

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army hopes to have its foot soldiers in Germany fully equipped in about five months with armor-protected vehicles designed to move them swiftly and safely into battle zones.

Officials estimated today it will take about 2,000 of these vehicles to outfit the 3rd, 8th, and 24th Infantry Divisions.

Shipment of the latest model M113 troop carriers already has begun and the Army has contracted for speeded-up manufacture of more of them.

The Army long has sought to mechanize its infantry in Europe where the terrain is relatively flat and where a fast moving force has an advantage. The Soviets are known to have mechanized many of their divisions.

The Berlin crisis, and its threat of a U.S.-Soviet clash of arms, has given impetus to the Army's plans for mechanization.

Perhaps two-thirds of the 2,000 personnel carriers will be the modern, aluminum armored M113, the rest the heavier and shorter range M59s. Eventually the Army hopes to replace the older models.

In the past, infantrymen have marched to the front or have

Tips on Cabbage

Cabbage is so often available that we sometimes overlook its many merits. To name a few—cabbage is convenient to prepare, adapts to many dishes, stores well, costs relatively little, and provides vitamin C (ascorbic acid).

Consumption statistics bear out the popularity of cabbage in the American diet. We eat more cabbage than any other fresh vegetable except potatoes and lettuce.

Cabbage serves fresh uses—as slaw or as a prime ingredient in other salads in combination with such vegetables as raw carrots, celery, onions, peppers, or tomatoes. Cabbage also combines well with fruits in salads—with apples, pineapple and raisins.

Too, cabbage has many cooked uses. Cooks braise, boil, scallop, or cream it—or use it in stew or soup—or combine it with chipped beef, bacon or ham in casseroles.

Cabbage has a low cost per serving. General retail prices for cabbage have recently been running 8 cents per pound, according to the New York City Department of Markets. A pound of cabbage yields 8 servings raw. This means the cost per serving of cabbage for salad comes to only 1 cent (8 cents divided by 8 servings). A pound of cabbage yields 4 servings cooked, and so the cost per serving of cabbage as a cooked vegetable comes to only 2 cents (8 cents divided by 4 servings).

The cost per serving varies with the type of cabbage you buy. Red cabbage is more expensive than the green. Also cost may increase through packaging and other services performed for you. For instance, cabbage shredded and packed in plastic bags may cost you several times more than purchasing a head and shredding it yourself.

Fresh cabbage comes in different shapes, colors and leaf types. Heads may be round, pointed or flat; the color may be green, red, purple or white; the leaves may be smooth, or curly and crinkled.

The most common cabbage varieties in our markets are Danish—round, solid and compact with green or white color and smooth leaves.

Also Savoy—round but of a yellow-green color with loose crinkled leaves. Some red cabbage also comes from local areas. Domestic cabbage is the variety usually grown for processing. It produces an extremely large head.

The best cabbage is reasonably solid, firm, and has a heavy or a fairly heavy head for its size. Cabbage should be closely trimmed; the stems should be cut close to the head and all but three or four of the outer or wrapper leaves removed. You can readily see defects—he most common are worm injury, decay, yellowing leaves, and burst heads. Avoid cabbage badly affected by these defects. If only slightly affected, the cabbage may be trimmed and used. Soft heads, though edible, usually have poorer quality than firm ones.

Cabbage loses moisture if left in room temperature; the leaves tend to wilt or become flabby. But you can readily retard this loss through proper care and storage. Remove any withered leaves from the cabbage, wash, and allow to drain. Place the cabbage in a plastic bag or covered container to prevent further loss of moisture, and refrigerate it. Covering also reduces transfer of odor, particularly important for cooked cabbage.

To retain the mild flavor, attractive color, and nutritive value of the cabbage, cook it only until tender. Overcooking causes strong odors and flavors and color changes, as well as loss of food value. You may boil shredded cabbage in an uncovered pan with just enough water to prevent burning.

At the Markets

Meat—Don't delay until holiday time—serve turkey now and offen. A record turkey crop continues to pour into our markets. For the next several months supplies will be 15 per cent greater than a year ago. Prices are the lowest in several years for both large and small sizes. Ducks too, are favorably priced.

Dairy Products—Milk production over and above the quantity consumed fresh is diverted to manufactured dairy products which are abundant. Stocks of American cheese are building up sharply. Butter production is up 5 per cent over last year.

Cereals—Supplies of rice are plentiful this year. Rice combines well with chicken, turkey, and duck, seasonally in good supply.

Vegetables — Cooler weather should improve quality of locally produced vegetables. Quality has been variable due to unseasonably hot temperatures. The flood of vegetables from nearby producing areas continues. Cabbage, snap beans, carrots, onions, potatoes, lettuce, cauliflower, eggplant, celery, beets, green squash, mushrooms, peppers and tomatoes are good choices.

Ex-Con Indicted For Murder of Woman Realtor

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Ex-convict Charles Trudeau was indicted today on a charge of first-degree murder in the strangling of real-estate saleswoman Louise Temple, an attractive divorcee whose body was stuffed into the trunk of her automobile.

Trudeau, an unemployed plasterer, was taken to county court from his jail cell, where he had been held as a parole violator since Mrs. Temple's body was found Aug. 22.

Mrs. Temple, 50, of Auburn, had shown Trudeau a $39,000 suburban house four days earlier.

Trudeau also was charged with two counts of forgery, first degree grand larceny, second degree grand larceny and destroying evidence.

Leroy Durham, 49, who police said cashed a $250 check for Trudeau, was indicted jointly with Trudeau on a charge of destroying evidence. He also was indicted on a charge of compounding a felony, in handling the check.

Durham, a supermarket manager, is the father of the 29-year-old woman Trudeau had planned to marry.

Arraignment for both was deferred until Monday. Bail for Durham was set at $4,000.

The larceny charges against Trudeau involved the alleged theft of Mrs. Temple's car and several of her checks.

Trudeau, a heavy-set, balding man who had served time for forgery, has admitted stealing a check from Mrs. Temple and forging it for $250 to buy furniture, police said.

Trudeau maintained that Mrs. Temple dropped him off at his apartment after showing him the house he had inquired about. Dist. Atty. Joseph Ryan said several persons had reported seeing Mrs. Temple inside the apartment building, however.

The district attorney said there were two similar, unsolved slayings of women who had deal in real estate in Washington and Baltimore.

Ryan said police in those cities were attempting to determine whether there was any connection in the slayings.

Tips on Cabbage

Cabbage is so often available that we sometimes overlook its many merits. To name a few—cabbage is convenient to prepare, adapts to many dishes, stores well, costs relatively little, and provides vitamin C (ascorbic acid).

Consumption statistics bear out the popularity of cabbage in the American diet. We eat more cabbage than any other fresh vegetable except potatoes and lettuce.

Cabbage serves fresh uses—as slaw or as a prime ingredient in other salads in combination with such vegetables as raw carrots, celery, onions, peppers, or tomatoes. Cabbage also combines well with fruits in salads—with apples, pineapple and raisins.

Too, cabbage has many cooked uses. Cooks braise, boil, scallop, or cream it—or use it in stew or soup—or combine it with chipped beef, bacon or ham in casseroles.

Cabbage has a low cost per serving. General retail prices for cabbage have recently been running 8 cents per pound, according to the New York City Department of Markets. A pound of cabbage yields 8 servings raw. This means the cost per serving of cabbage for salad comes to only 1 cent (8 cents divided by 8 servings). A pound of cabbage yields 4 servings cooked, and so the cost per serving of cabbage as a cooked vegetable comes to only 2 cents (8 cents divided by 4 servings).

The cost per serving varies with the type of cabbage you buy. Red cabbage is more expensive than the green. Also cost may increase through packaging and other services performed for you. For instance, cabbage shredded and packed in plastic bags may cost you several times more than purchasing a head and shredding it yourself.

College Community Orchestra Resumes Rehearsals Oct. 3

The College-Community Orchestra of the State University College of Education, New Paltz, will begin its 1961-62 season Tuesday, Oct. 3, at 7:15 p. m. in the Music Room below the auditorium stage in the Main Building.

All interested musicians in the area are invited to attend and to bring their instruments with them.

Now in its 15th season under the leadership of Dr. O. Lincoln Igou, Professor of Humanities, the orchestra is a completely volunteer group composed of 50 or more students, faculty, and persons who come from many communities in the Mid-Hudson area. Dr. Igou explained that two concerts are being planned, one to be presented early in December and the other to take place in May.

"Our group is made up of both amateurs and professionals," Dr. Igou explained, "and we are somewhat limited in the complexity of the music which we can undertake. Nevertheless, composers such as Bach, Mozart, Beethoven and many others appear on our program. We try to schedule a full symphony and concerto for each concert."

Dr. Igou further explained that this combination of dedicated amateurs and professionals produces surprisingly effective results, and he pointed out that faithful attendance at the Tuesday evening rehearsal is at least as important as the player's technical ability.

"Both the college and community are growing very rapidly," he said, "and we are looking forward to the most successful season that we have ever had."

Villa-Reis Wedding Is Announced Here; Ceremony Takes Place in New York City

Miss Lillian Henrietta Villa, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Villa of 1717 Fowler Avenue, New York City, wed Thomas Anthony Reis, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. Joseph Reis of Port Ewen, Saturday, Sept. 16 before a nuptial mass at 11 a. m. in Our Lady of Solace Church, New York.

Officiating during the double ring ceremony and celebrant of the Mass was the Rev. Wilfred T. Riordan, assistant pastor. The Papal Blessing was also read.

Miss Matilda Dean was organist. Selections included "Ave Maria," "Mother at Thy Feet Is Kneeling."

Vases of white pompons decorated the altar and the family pews were marked with satin bows. The bride dedicated a bouquet of white mums to the Blessed Mother.

Mr. Villa gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a gown of silk organza posed over bridal taffeta fashioned with a molded bodice, abbreviated sleeves and a circlet neckline. The softly pleated skirt swept back into a chapel length circular train. The heirloom Alencon lace mantilla was draped in madonna fashion. She carried white orchirds on a missal.

Miss Mary Ann Villa, sister of the bride, was her maid of honor. She wore a gown of blue organza styled with a draped bodice and a circlet neckline. The waist was encircled with a matching satin cummerbund which ended at the back in a flat bow detail. She carried a crescent of pink roses and white pompons.

Attendants were Miss Susan Toscani, New York City, the bride's cousin; Miss Joan Beichert, cousin of the bridegroom, Kingston; and Mrs. Thomas Graham of New York City. All wore gowns identical in style to that of the honor attendants. They wore half hats of pearl tipped silk organza petals to which were attached circular tulle flirtation veils. They carried crescents of pink roses.

P. Joseph Beichert Jr., of Eastchester, N. Y., was best man for his cousin. Ushering were Gerard Beichert of Kingston, the bridegroom's cousin, Thomas Graham and James Vann of New York City.

Approximately 150 guests were entertained at a reception given at Hotel Gramatan in Bronxville.

The bride was graduated from Our Lady of Solace and the Academy of the Sacred Heart of Mary in New York. She is now enrolled at LaSalle University and was employed in the accounting department of the National Dairies, Madison Avenue, New York City. Her husband was graduated from St. Peter's School, this city, St. John's Preparatory School at Danvers, Mass., and Fordham University School of Business. He is associated with the U. S. Rubber Company, Avenue of the Americas, New York City, as an auditor.

For her wedding trip to New England, the bride wore a two piece dressmaker suit with a pleated skirt, pillbox hat and matching accessories. She also wore a white orchid.

Mr. and Mrs. Reis will reside in Bordentown, N. J., where the bridegroom is serving with the U. S. Army at Fort Dix.

College Community Orchestra Resumes Rehearsals Oct. 3

The College-Community Orchestra of the State University College of Education, New Paltz, will begin its 1961-62 season Tuesday, Oct. 3, at 7:15 p. m. in the Music Room below the auditorium stage in the Main Building.

All interested musicians in the area are invited to attend and to bring their instruments with them.

Now in its 15th season under the leadership of Dr. O. Lincoln Igou, Professor of Humanities, the orchestra is a completely volunteer group composed of 50 or more students, faculty, and persons who come from many communities in the Mid-Hudson area. Dr. Igou explained that two concerts are being planned, one to be presented early in December and the other to take place in May.

"Our group is made up of both amateurs and professionals," Dr. Igou explained, "and we are somewhat limited in the complexity of the music which we can undertake. Nevertheless, composers such as Bach, Mozart, Beethoven and many others appear on our program. We try to schedule a full symphony and concerto for each concert."

Dr. Igou further explained that this combination of dedicated amateurs and professionals produces surprisingly effective results, and he pointed out that faithful attendance at the Tuesday evening rehearsal is at least as important as the player's technical ability.

"Both the college and community are growing very rapidly," he said, "and we are looking forward to the most successful season that we have ever had."

Villa-Reis Wedding Is Announced Here; Ceremony Takes Place in New York City

Miss Lillian Henrietta Villa, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Villa of 1717 Fowler Avenue, New York City, wed Thomas Anthony Reis, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. Joseph Reis of Port Ewen, Saturday, Sept. 16 before a nuptial mass at 11 a. m. in Our Lady of Solace Church, New York.

Officiating during the double ring ceremony and celebrant of the Mass was the Rev. Wilfred T. Riordan, assistant pastor. The Papal Blessing was also read.

Miss Matilda Dean was organist. Selections included "Ave Maria," "Mother at Thy Feet Is Kneeling."

Vases of white pompons decorated the altar and the family pews were marked with satin bows. The bride dedicated a bouquet of white mums to the Blessed Mother.

Mr. Villa gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a gown of silk organza posed over bridal taffeta fashioned with a molded bodice, abbreviated sleeves and a circlet neckline. The softly pleated skirt swept back into a chapel length circular train. The heirloom Alencon lace mantilla was draped in madonna fashion. She carried white orchirds on a missal.

Miss Mary Ann Villa, sister of the bride, was her maid of honor. She wore a gown of blue organza styled with a draped bodice and a circlet neckline. The waist was encircled with a matching satin cummerbund which ended at the back in a flat bow detail. She carried a crescent of pink roses and white pompons.

Attendants were Miss Susan Toscani, New York City, the bride's cousin; Miss Joan Beichert, cousin of the bridegroom, Kingston; and Mrs. Thomas Graham of New York City. All wore gowns identical in style to that of the honor attendants. They wore half hats of pearl tipped silk organza petals to which were attached circular tulle flirtation veils. They carried crescents of pink roses.

P. Joseph Beichert Jr., of Eastchester, N. Y., was best man for his cousin. Ushering were Gerard Beichert of Kingston, the bridegroom's cousin, Thomas Graham and James Vann of New York City.

Approximately 150 guests were entertained at a reception given at Hotel Gramatan in Bronxville.

The bride was graduated from Our Lady of Solace and the Academy of the Sacred Heart of Mary in New York. She is now enrolled at LaSalle University and was employed in the accounting department of the National Dairies, Madison Avenue, New York City. Her husband was graduated from St. Peter's School, this city, St. John's Preparatory School at Danvers, Mass., and Fordham University School of Business. He is associated with the U. S. Rubber Company, Avenue of the Americas, New York City, as an auditor.

For her wedding trip to New England, the bride wore a two piece dressmaker suit with a pleated skirt, pillbox hat and matching accessories. She also wore a white orchid.

Mr. and Mrs. Reis will reside in Bordentown, N. J., where the bridegroom is serving with the U. S. Army at Fort Dix.

The Mature Parent

BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

'Bossing' Children Puts Accent on Basic Problem

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

He is 10 years old and lives in a penthouse where his mother maintains a terrace garden she loves.

This summer she decided that he needed assignment to a regular Saturday morning chore. She made it the work of bringing up the family's baskets of laundry from the basement. After three weeks he balked. As he dawdled and complained, bitterness grew between him and his mother. Finally, after a punishment that resulted in two days of sullen silence, his mother consulted a professional friend.

He said, "You love your garden, don't you? If you love Philip, too, why don't you bring them together? Why don't you make his Saturday morning chore repainting your hedge boxes for you?"

The Saturday after Philip had painted two of his mother's precious hedge boxes, he said to her, "Do you want me to go down to the basement and get the lanudry for you today?"

Let's not get sentimental over this "happy ending" to the problem. It contained, let's remember, the triumph of a child's insubordination.

That's what we don't want when it comes to problems over chores. We're scared to death to surrender to a child's resentment of a boring chore. If we do, heaven knows how he will exploit his triumph when next time we want him to do what he doesn't want to do.

So we keep him at the dull chores. It's we who trim the hedge while Dick mows the lawn. It's Jimmmy who incinerates the garbage while we hose down the car. It's Lori who washes the cake tins while we ice the cake.

Any defiance, any insubordination is met by such fear that submission to their wishes to evade the dull chore will so undermine our authority that we can't even see our own dislike of mowing lawns and washing cake tins.

However, until we do, the battle over the chores just goes on and on.

It's only when we know how we dislike mowing the lawn or hauling up laundry from the basement that we can say to children, "Okay. I'll take the lawn this week and you hose down the car." It's only when we can forget worrying about who's Boss that we can see that children like what we like and begin to share it with them.

PROTECTING HER LINEN

Q: The other evening while at dinner at a friend's house, I encountered something which to me was very strange, and I would like your opinion of it. The dining table was set with a very beautiful tablecloth and napkins. However, at the place of each of the women guests, the hostess had a tissue in each napkin, presumably for the guests to wipe off their lipstick, so that they would not get it on her napkins. I know that lipstick stains can be very difficult to get out, and some indelible ones impossible to get entirely out, but don't you think this is going a little too far?

A: I agree with you; although I do understand and sympathize with your friend's wishing to protect her linen from her thoughtless guests' lipstick.

When Marriage Is Dissolved

Q: Three months ago my son was married and unfortunately it did not work out and the marriage is in the process of being annulled. They received many beautiful wedding presents, which she has. Don't you think that my son is entitled to the presents sent from his friends and relatives? Also, what about the checks that they received?

A: Very often when a marriage is dissolved by divorce or annullment, the wife chooses to send certain of the wedding presents, especially those sent by the bridegroom's friends and relatives, to her ex-husband. If, however, she does not do so, unfair as it may seem, she has the right to keep them.

An Unchaperoned Group

Q: Would the fact that there are three couples in the group alter the impropriety of unmarried girls and men going away together for a weekend to a well-known hotel?

A: It would not really be proper, but such a group, if well-be-haved, will probably not be criticized.

PROTECTING HER LINEN

Q: The other evening while at dinner at a friend's house, I encountered something which to me was very strange, and I would like your opinion of it. The dining table was set with a very beautiful tablecloth and napkins. However, at the place of each of the women guests, the hostess had a tissue in each napkin, presumably for the guests to wipe off their lipstick, so that they would not get it on her napkins. I know that lipstick stains can be very difficult to get out, and some indelible ones impossible to get entirely out, but don't you think this is going a little too far?

A: I agree with you; although I do understand and sympathize with your friend's wishing to protect her linen from her thoughtless guests' lipstick.

When Marriage Is Dissolved

Q: Three months ago my son was married and unfortunately it did not work out and the marriage is in the process of being annulled. They received many beautiful wedding presents, which she has. Don't you think that my son is entitled to the presents sent from his friends and relatives? Also, what about the checks that they received?

A: Very often when a marriage is dissolved by divorce or annullment, the wife chooses to send certain of the wedding presents, especially those sent by the bridegroom's friends and relatives, to her ex-husband. If, however, she does not do so, unfair as it may seem, she has the right to keep them.

An Unchaperoned Group

Q: Would the fact that there are three couples in the group alter the impropriety of unmarried girls and men going away together for a weekend to a well-known hotel?

A: It would not really be proper, but such a group, if well-be-haved, will probably not be criticized.

Marriage Attitudes—Are They Changing

The myth about a quiet, subdued wife and an aggressive male can be laid to rest, according to a study of the marriage relationship of several hundred couples conducted recently by Dr. Harold Feldman of the department of child development and family relationships in the New York State College of Home Economics at Cornell University.

Working with families in the Syracuse area under a grant from the National Institutes of Health and Welfare, Dr. Feldman, among other things, probed the validity of some of the stereotype concepts of the masculine and feminine roles in marriage. He found that men did not value any aspect of marriage more than women did, though women valued some more than men.

Dr. Feldman found that women put a higher value than men did on various aspects of personal intimacy such as companionship, being in love, being needed, and having children. They also valued intellectual stimulations more. Dr. Feldman suggested that this might be because women feel a greater need to be treated as persons who are interesting to talk to than men do.

Although men have been regarded traditionally as the family gourmets, they attached less importance to good food than women in this study.

At least one traditional concept was supported by the research—both men and women agreed that the women start conversations more often than men. Their only disagreement was on how much more often. The women thought they started the talking almost all of the time, while the men thought the distribution was much closer to equal. (No data was gathered on who ended the conversations.)

"In general, both spouses felt that the conversations were more about the other person than about themselves," Dr. Feldman reported. The men thought they spent the most time talking about the wife's feelings, her health, her parents, the children, home repairs, to list a few subjects. The women thought they spent more time discussing their husband's work, hobbies and sports.

Both men and women said they felt closer to their mates after a conversation, but women had this feeling to a more intense degree than men.

Husbands and wives generally agreed on whose job it was to make decisions in certain areas. The husband's domain was seen to include money matters and the wife's to include children, entertaining, religion and visiting relatives. Apparently the days have passed when "Daddy" was the family disciplinarian.

The men thought they had more power over money management and less over the selection of life insurance than the women gave them credit for. Actually the women assigned the men more power of decision than the men did themselves, except in money management.

In times of argument, the women tended to do something nice for themselves, criticize themselves, criticize their husbands and then walk out, or displace their feelings by working at something or being especially nice to someone else. The men, on the other hand, bought them something, were especially nice, or put the argument out of their minds altogether.

"In the days of 'Papa Is All' he would have stormed, ranted, and raved, while she would have smoothed his ruffled feathers," Dr. Feldman says. "The current picture is of a quieter, peace-loving man, simpler in his emotional make-up, wanting peace and willing to pay for it."

Perhaps a fitting second chapter to this research report would be one on the increased number of ulcer cases!

Urges Dual Use for Conditioning

Public Works Director in CD Praises 'Big Step' on Caves

Reaction to Kingston's Sept. 21 move toward establishing fallout shelter facilities in downtown limestone caves continues, Alderman Donald M. Hastings (D) Third Ward, chairman of a special Common Council committee revealed today.

Topmost among recently expressed opinion, he noted, is that from Irving Scheinbart, state public works director in civil defense, who wrote that in his opinion the caves are "very well suited" for the purpose, but he advised continued dual use of them to prevent development of wet and uncomfortable conditions.

The engineer, who had made a tour of the caves with local officials, said it was "heartening" to note that Kingston had taken "the big step" in this major phase of civil defense.

Recommendations Approved

Recommendations of its special committee were approved Sept. 21 by the Common Council. The adopted report calls for installation of a generating plant, radio units, stocking of foods, use of available water along with other moves necessary for installing shelter facilities.

The city's move in this direction was immediately given widespread news coverage and this was followed by the interest of the nation's top magazines. The project was also given widespread radio and TV coverage.

It was also learned today that the State Civil Defense Commission has been busy answering inquiries and compiling information for publication and broadcast.

Receiving Inquiries

Alderman Hastings said inquiries have come from Fortune and Time Magazines, the U. S. World Report and the CBS TV network. A report on the project was given Sept. 22 on TV by WRGB. The latter included views of the cave system's interior and emphasizing that space within was large enough for the movement of several motor vehicles.

CBS officials indicated that information and pictures obtained were intended for the network's Friday night program, "Reports." The current issue of Time Magazine mentions the city's plans to develope the caves.

Others Could Be Used

The caves most immediately under consideration are those off lower Delaware Avenue which have been used for several years by Knaust Brothers Inc., for the growing of mushrooms. They have been developed considerably for that purpose, and are generally not just drab cavernous corridors. Other caves in the area could be used.

Their continued use for mushroom growing is probably one purpose which Engineer Scheinbart had in mind when he advised their continued use for dual purposes. Other uses could include some development for recreation or storage purposes. An Associated Press news report last year noted that cave developments in Sweden are used for recreation.

Accommodates 5,000

One picture showed a cave system developed into a shelter to accommodate 5,000 persons. It was equipped with a bowling alley, theatre and table tennis room. A recent report on Sweden emphasized that similarly developed cave systems in various areas of the nation can shelter some 2,000,000 people.

Alderman Hastings today commended The Freeman for its Sept. 23 editorial in support of the Common Council's action toward development of the caves. The Freeman last year gained information from both state and federal sources as to procedure in developing such underground systems for defense purposes, and was informed that action must begin on a local basis before any type of state or federal aid is available.

County Democrats Re-elect Kelly County Chairman

Attorney William A. Kelly was re-elected chairman of the Ulster County Democratic Committee by acclaim Wednesday night as upwards of 300 persons filled the court room at the Ulster County Courthouse for the annual election.

The highlight of the session James T. McCardle, Democratic supervisor from the 9th Ward, was keynoter and hit at what he termed Republican tactics in "bottling up" the Community College project and lack of activity by the Industrial Commission. He also scored the "archaic coroner system in Ulster County," and urged adoption of a medical examiner setup.

Special City Judge Arthur B. Ewig acted as temporary chairman during the elections.

Hubert A. Richter, Democratic candidate for county judge and George A. Beck, Democratic candidate for District Attorney also addressed the gathering.

was the election of a woman vice chairman for the first time by the Ulster County Democrats. They selected Mrs. Florence Crosby, wife of Lincoln Crosby of 140 Downs Street. She is past president of the Ulster County Women's Democratic Club and long prominent in party activities in the area. She was nominated by Mrs. Irma Coty of Napanoch.

The meeting re-elected Norman Kellar as secretary and Joseph Koenig as treasurer. There was no opposition and all elections were unanimous.

Slugger Takes Rest

Sandy Koufax Sets SO Record, But Maris Makes The Noise

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Sandy Koufax broke a 58-year-old strikeout record. Little-used Al Schroll made a strong bid for a no-hitter. But the big baseball noise was made by Roger Maris—and he took the day off.

Maris, who hit his 60th home run Tuesday night and received a thunderous ovation, almost had his membership in the club revoked Wednesday when he took a much needed rest.

The Yankee slugger, with three more games remaining against Boston in which to become the most productive one-season homer hitter in major league annals, left the bench in the middle of the game with Baltimore and was booed by many of the 7,504 fans, or hand to see him swing.

"I think he did what was right for him," said Manager Ralph Houk after the American League champion New York Yankees lost to the Orioles 3-2. "We agreed it would be best for him to sit this game out. Besides, it wasn't his decision; it was mine."

The Yankees also played without Mickey Mantle, No. 2 man in the M & M combination. Mantle, who has hit 54 homers, has been bothered by a virus condition for the past 10 days, and finally was ordered to bed by the team physician.

Maris 'Bushed'

Maris said: "I'm plain bushed. I was so tired I could hardly run. Naturally I want that 61st home run, but I think it is for my best interest and the club's for me to be in the best possible shape for the World Series."

The day off gives Maris a two-day rest as the Yanks are idle today. They wind up the regular season with a three-game set against the Red Sox before tackling the National League champion Cincinnati Reds in the World Series.

Without Maris and Mantle, the Yankees proved an impotent group against Steve Barber (18-12), who gave up a homer to Yogi Berra among six hits. Jim Gentile's two-run homer, his 46th, off Bill Stafford (13-9) in the first and rookie Johnny Powell's run-producing single—his first major league hit—in the third won it for the Orioles.

Beat's Matty's Mark

Koufax brought his season strikeout total to 269 by fanning seven Phillies and bettered the 267 compiled by Christy Mathewson of the New York Giants in 1903. But the Los Angeles Dodgers southpaw lost to Philadelphia 2-1 on a pair of unearned runs in the third inning.

The Dodgers, however, clinched a tie for second place when the Pittsburgh Pirates beat the third-place San Francisco Giants 5-3 on Bill Mazeroski't two-run homer in the ninth. Chicago downed St. Louis 5-2 on homers by Danny Murphy, rookie Ken Hubbs and George Altman. Schroll (4-3), a burly right-hander, held Cleveland hitless for eight innings and then gave up only two hits en route to a 10-4 victory in his first complete game.

Frank Lary brought his record to 23-9 as Detroit whipped Kansas City 10-2 on homers by Rocky Colavito, Norm Cash and Bubba Morton, Jim Pagliaroni drove in two runs with a homer and double in Boston's 6-4 victory over Chicago, and Los Angeles' Angels downed Washington 8-6 in another night game with a three-run rally in the eighth.

Experience Gives Yankees' Pitchers Edge Over Redlegs

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Experience gives the New York Yankees the edge in pitching over the Cincinnati Reds.

No one has started more games in World Series history than Whitey Ford, the ace of the American League pennant winners. The brilliant left-hander has started 14, compiled a 7-4 mark and is tied for most victories with Allie Reynolds and Red Ruffing.

Ralph Terry and Bill Stafford, who figure to draw the other starting assignments for New York, worked in last year's series. Terry lost two games, yielding the home run to Bill Mazeroski in the final game that gave Pittsburgh the title. Stafford pitched six innings with no decisions.

Luis Arroyo, Jim Coates and Bob Turley of the Yanks also have seen series action.

No Experience

On the other hand, none of the 10 Cincinnati pitchers eligible for the 1961 postseason championships starting in Yankee Stadium next Wednesday, has any series experience.

The starting pitchers almost are certain to be Ford (25-4), Terry (15-3) and Stafford (13-9) for New York and Joey Jay (21-9), Jim O'Toole (18-9) and Bob Purkey (16-12) for the Reds.

The fact that all six have impressive won-lost records is a tribute to the teams' excellent relief pitchers — Arroyo (15-5) for the Yankees and Jim Brosnan (10-3) and Bill Henry (2-1) for the Reds. These three will be the late-inning relievers. Coates (11-5) and Bud Daley (12-17) for New York and Ken Johnson (6-2) and Jim Maloney (6-7) of Cincinnati are likely to get the relief calls from the first through the sixth innings.

On a collective basis, The Reds' pitchers have 46 complete games, 12 shutouts, permitted 143 homers and a 3.78 earned run average. Yankee pitchers have totaled 47 complete games, 13 shutouts, 137 home runs off and a 3.51 ERA.

It's Ford, O'Toole in First Game

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Barring a change in plans between now and next Wednesday, the opening game pitchers for the 1961 World Series will be left-handers Whitey Ford (25-4) for the New York Yankees and Jim O'Toole (18-9) for the Cincinnati Reds.

Both managers—Ralph Houk of the Yankees and Fred Hutchinson of the Reds—have indicated they will employ no more than three starters in the series, even if it goes the limit of seven games.

Right-hander Ralph Terry (15-3) will pitch the second game for the Yankees. Joey Jay, another right-hander with a 21-9 record is expected to be Hutchinson's second game choice. The first two games, starting Oct. 4, will be played at Yankee Stadium.

Right-handers Bill Stafford (13-9) of New York and Bob Purkey (16-12) of Cincinnati will be the opposing pitchers in the third game at Cincinnati's Crosley Field on Saturday, Oct. 7. After that, it will be Ford against O'Toole again.

Houk said he probably will use right-handers Jim Coates, Roland Sheldon and left-hander Bud Daley as his "long men" in relief, thus preserving his relief ace, Luis Arroyo, for the final innings.

"Long man" is a term baseball people use for relief pitchers who are called upon in the early innings. A "short man" is a bullpenner of the type of the Reds' Jim Brosnan and Jim Henry, and also Arroyo, who are not summoned until the seventh, eighth or ninth innings. Such pitchers usually come in to preserve a slim lead or when the score is tied.

Air Defense Test Will Ground Grid Fans October 14

By VERN HAUGLAND

WASHINGTON (AP) — The impact of an air defense exercise on Saturday, Oct. 14, may be greatest on athletes and sports fans.

The college football season will be at a height that day when, for 12 hours, all civilian aircraft and all nonparticipating military planes will be grounded.

The exercise, conducted by the North American Air Defense Command, will involve about 2,000 military planes in a simulated attack on the North American continent.

On that Saturday more than 40 major intersectional games, some of them important homecoming contests and some involving large travel distances, are scheduled.

Although most college football teams arrive at least a day before the game, the grounding of planes during Operation Sky Shield II will affect the travel plans of thousands of fans who rely on charter flights.

There will be no commercial or civilian flying from 1 p.m. Oct. 14 until 1 a.m. Oct. 15, EDT. In the other time zones the hours, all on Oct. 14 are :noon to midnight, CDT; 10 a.m., to 10 p.m., MST; 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. PST; 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. Alaskan Standard.

Altogether, the exercise is expected to ground 1,880 domestic and international airline planes and 70,000 private and business aircraft.

SCHOLASTIC CORNER

By ED PALLADINO

Arlington High School's football team is scheduled to play Saugerties Friday night at Dietz Stadium and for the first time since the 1930's, the well-known personality of Fritz Jordan will be missing.

Frank King, who has assisted Jordan for many years at the Poughkeepsie school, was elevated to the position of head football coach after Jordan refused to coach the team this fall until the matter of detention rules at the school was cleared up. He did it because he claims he wants a square deal for his players, who give of themselves for the good of the school.

24 YEARS, 32 CHAMPIONSHIPS

We are not taking sides because we are not aware of how long this difference of opinion between Jordan and the school administration has been going on. Certainly, there are two sides to every story. However, we feel it is regrettable that a coach like Jordan, who has handled the three major sports at Arlington for 24 years and has guided them to a total of 32 championships, has to sit on the sidelines because he rebelled against something he thought and still thinks, was wrong.

Fritz Jordan is a colorful coach. His boys respect him and his opponents do likewise. We have always felt that he is the best in getting his team up for a game that has to be won. In plain and simple language, a Fritz Jordan-coached club is tough to beat when the chips are on the table.

WHAT NEXT?

The school board, in making known that Jordan would not be coaching the school's football team, did not give a decision on the basketball and baseball clubs. We hope Jordan will be permitted to return as a coach of those sports. It's just hard to imagine this colorful and successful coach sitting in an office and letting someone else do the coaching. Most of the athletic directors are doing it today, but Jordan seems to be of a different breed. Whatever the problems are, they should be ironed out. Fritz Jordan is a fine coach and a credit to his profession; of that there is no doubt.

SIMS IS SIDELINED

Jim Sims, a track and cross country star while at Kingston High and a member of the Cornell Frosh team last season, was hospitalized at the university hospital recently with a viral infection. An outstanding pupil, Jim has some catching up to do on his back work and he's hoping to resume his track career in another month or so . . . Terry Millert, a former Kingstonian, is playing varsity end for the New Hartford High School club. He's a 17-year-old senior and his grandparents still live here . . . Newburgh Free Academy home football games will be played at Recreation Park, according to athletic director Stan Hemingway. He noted the school's athletic field has cost a tremendous amount of money in the past and feels the grass will grow this year if the team stays off the gridiron. The team will dress and shower at the school and drills will be held on the field adjacent to the main athletic area.

MIDDLETOWN, LIBERTY, SAUGERTIES

Those schools are our selections to win league championships. Middletown figures a sure thing in the DUSO with Port Jervis as the main threat. Behind the top two we like Kingston, Poughkeepsie and Newburgh.

Liberty is a newcomer to the UCAL and the Indians are loaded. The second spot will be wide open. We pick New Paltz to finish as the runnerup club with Onteora, Wallkill, Rondout and Marlboro following.

Saugerties will have a close one in the DCSL with Beacon and Highland figured as contenders. Then will come Arlington, Wappings Falls, Roosevelt and Cardinal Farley.

HOW ABOUT THAT?

Then there's the story of a certain coach in the Orange County league who had a starting fullback that worked on a farm. Prior to the opening game last Saturday, the boy called the coach and said he had to work and couldn't play football that day. The coach reports the boy was farmed out for the season.

Starting Guard Lost To Buffalo Gridders

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — The University of Buffalo's unbeaten football team has lost the service of starting guard Jim Wolfe for three weeks due to injury.

Wolfe suffered three broken ribs in last Saturday's 24-12 upset of Boston University. Billy Roof has been named to start in Wolfe's spot in Saturday's meeting with the University of Delaware in Newark.

Cornell-Colgate Game Is Battle of Lines

HAMILTON, N.Y. (AP) — The Cornell-Colgate football game Saturday will be a "vicious battle of the lines," Colgate Coach Alva Kelley says.

"I figure the game will be won up front," Kelley told a luncheon club Wednesday. "At least we've got a chance to pull off an upset if we can keep their fast backs from turning upfield on us."

Slugger Takes Rest

Sandy Koufax Sets SO Record, But Maris Makes The Noise

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Sandy Koufax broke a 58-year-old strikeout record. Little-used Al Schroll made a strong bid for a no-hitter. But the big baseball noise was made by Roger Maris—and he took the day off.

Maris, who hit his 60th home run Tuesday night and received a thunderous ovation, almost had his membership in the club revoked Wednesday when he took a much needed rest.

The Yankee slugger, with three more games remaining against Boston in which to become the most productive one-season homer hitter in major league annals, left the bench in the middle of the game with Baltimore and was booed by many of the 7,504 fans, or hand to see him swing.

"I think he did what was right for him," said Manager Ralph Houk after the American League champion New York Yankees lost to the Orioles 3-2. "We agreed it would be best for him to sit this game out. Besides, it wasn't his decision; it was mine."

The Yankees also played without Mickey Mantle, No. 2 man in the M & M combination. Mantle, who has hit 54 homers, has been bothered by a virus condition for the past 10 days, and finally was ordered to bed by the team physician.

Maris 'Bushed'

Maris said: "I'm plain bushed. I was so tired I could hardly run. Naturally I want that 61st home run, but I think it is for my best interest and the club's for me to be in the best possible shape for the World Series."

The day off gives Maris a two-day rest as the Yanks are idle today. They wind up the regular season with a three-game set against the Red Sox before tackling the National League champion Cincinnati Reds in the World Series.

Without Maris and Mantle, the Yankees proved an impotent group against Steve Barber (18-12), who gave up a homer to Yogi Berra among six hits. Jim Gentile's two-run homer, his 46th, off Bill Stafford (13-9) in the first and rookie Johnny Powell's run-producing single—his first major league hit—in the third won it for the Orioles.

Beat's Matty's Mark

Koufax brought his season strikeout total to 269 by fanning seven Phillies and bettered the 267 compiled by Christy Mathewson of the New York Giants in 1903. But the Los Angeles Dodgers southpaw lost to Philadelphia 2-1 on a pair of unearned runs in the third inning.

The Dodgers, however, clinched a tie for second place when the Pittsburgh Pirates beat the third-place San Francisco Giants 5-3 on Bill Mazeroski't two-run homer in the ninth. Chicago downed St. Louis 5-2 on homers by Danny Murphy, rookie Ken Hubbs and George Altman. Schroll (4-3), a burly right-hander, held Cleveland hitless for eight innings and then gave up only two hits en route to a 10-4 victory in his first complete game.

Frank Lary brought his record to 23-9 as Detroit whipped Kansas City 10-2 on homers by Rocky Colavito, Norm Cash and Bubba Morton, Jim Pagliaroni drove in two runs with a homer and double in Boston's 6-4 victory over Chicago, and Los Angeles' Angels downed Washington 8-6 in another night game with a three-run rally in the eighth.

Experience Gives Yankees' Pitchers Edge Over Redlegs

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Experience gives the New York Yankees the edge in pitching over the Cincinnati Reds.

No one has started more games in World Series history than Whitey Ford, the ace of the American League pennant winners. The brilliant left-hander has started 14, compiled a 7-4 mark and is tied for most victories with Allie Reynolds and Red Ruffing.

Ralph Terry and Bill Stafford, who figure to draw the other starting assignments for New York, worked in last year's series. Terry lost two games, yielding the home run to Bill Mazeroski in the final game that gave Pittsburgh the title. Stafford pitched six innings with no decisions.

Luis Arroyo, Jim Coates and Bob Turley of the Yanks also have seen series action.

No Experience

On the other hand, none of the 10 Cincinnati pitchers eligible for the 1961 postseason championships starting in Yankee Stadium next Wednesday, has any series experience.

The starting pitchers almost are certain to be Ford (25-4), Terry (15-3) and Stafford (13-9) for New York and Joey Jay (21-9), Jim O'Toole (18-9) and Bob Purkey (16-12) for the Reds.

The fact that all six have impressive won-lost records is a tribute to the teams' excellent relief pitchers — Arroyo (15-5) for the Yankees and Jim Brosnan (10-3) and Bill Henry (2-1) for the Reds. These three will be the late-inning relievers. Coates (11-5) and Bud Daley (12-17) for New York and Ken Johnson (6-2) and Jim Maloney (6-7) of Cincinnati are likely to get the relief calls from the first through the sixth innings.

On a collective basis, The Reds' pitchers have 46 complete games, 12 shutouts, permitted 143 homers and a 3.78 earned run average. Yankee pitchers have totaled 47 complete games, 13 shutouts, 137 home runs off and a 3.51 ERA.

It's Ford, O'Toole in First Game

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Barring a change in plans between now and next Wednesday, the opening game pitchers for the 1961 World Series will be left-handers Whitey Ford (25-4) for the New York Yankees and Jim O'Toole (18-9) for the Cincinnati Reds.

Both managers—Ralph Houk of the Yankees and Fred Hutchinson of the Reds—have indicated they will employ no more than three starters in the series, even if it goes the limit of seven games.

Right-hander Ralph Terry (15-3) will pitch the second game for the Yankees. Joey Jay, another right-hander with a 21-9 record is expected to be Hutchinson's second game choice. The first two games, starting Oct. 4, will be played at Yankee Stadium.

Right - handers Bill Stafford (13-9) of New York and Bob Purkey (16-12) of Cincinnati will be the opposing pitchers in the third game at Cincinnati's Crosley Field on Saturday, Oct. 7. After that, it will be Ford against O'Toole again.

Houk said he probably will use right-handers Jim Coates, Roland Sheldon and left-hander Bud Daley as his "long men" in relief, thus preserving his relief ace, Luis Arroyo, for the final innings.

"Long man" is a term baseball people use for relief pitchers who are called upon in the early innings. A "short man" is a bullpenner of the type of the Reds' Jim Brosnan and Jim Henry, and also Arroyo, who are not summoned until the seventh, eighth or ninth innings. Such pitchers usually come in to preserve a slim lead or when the score is tied.

Air Defense Test Will Ground Grid Fans October 14

By VERN HAUGLAND

WASHINGTON (AP) — The impact of an air defense exercise on Saturday, Oct. 14, may be greatest on athletes and sports fans.

The college football season will be at a height that day when, for 12 hours, all civilian aircraft and all nonparticipating military planes will be grounded.

The exercise, conducted by the North American Air Defense Command, will involve about 2,000 military planes in a simulated attack on the North American continent.

On that Saturday more than 40 major intersectional games, some of them important homecoming contests and some involving large travel distances, are scheduled.

Although most college football teams arrive at least a day before the game, the grounding of planes during Operation Sky Shield II will affect the travel plans of thousands of fans who rely on charter flights.

There will be no commercial or civilian flying from 1 p.m. Oct. 14 until 1 a.m. Oct. 15, EDT. In the other time zones the hours, all on Oct. 14 are :noon to midnight, CDT; 10 a.m., to 10 p.m., MST; 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. PST; 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. Alaskan Standard.

Altogether, the exercise is expected to ground 1,880 domestic and international airline planes and 70,000 private and business aircraft.

NUMBER 60—New York Yankee slugger Roger Maris holds up the baseball he hit for his 60th home run this season in the third inning of a game with the Baltimore Orioles. Maris hit the home run off pitcher Jack Fisher to tie Babe Ruth in homers hit during a baseball season. But since the slugger hit the blast in the 158th game, it will count only as a record in a 162-game season according to Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick's ruling. Ruth got his 60 in a 154-game season, which was standard for most of the century until the American League expanded to 10 ball clubs this year. (NEA Telephoto)

Cardinal Farley Squad Defeats OCS Harriers

Barry Hopkins, a freshman runner continued a family tradition at Onteora Central School Wednesday by romping home first in the Indians' opening cross country meet of the fall season.

Coach Bernie Stahl's squad dropped a close decision to the Cardinal Farley Military Academy harriers, 26-29, but Hopkins' victory overshadowed the setback.

Hopkins was timed in 11 minutes, 19 seconds for the first run over Onteora's new two and one quarter mile layout. He finished 13 seconds ahead of Bill Galle, the Academy's veteran star. Bill Toriello placed third (11:39) for CFMA, while Pete Dolce and Ray Smith of Onteora were fourth and fifth, respectively.

Hopkins is the third member of his family to run in the Onteora spangles. He was preceded by two brothers, Bruce and Howard Hopkins.

All Newcomers

With the exception of Dolce, all the Onteora harriers were running in varsity competition for the first time. Dolce had limited experience in the 1960 season.

Rock Defense, Good Kicking Army's Weapon Against BU

WEST POINT, N. Y.—Army football adherents were cheered mostly by a staunch defensive effort and a brilliant kicking game, and these defensive measures figure again to play an important role in the Boston University game this Saturday.

While followers of the Black Knights had little else to cheer about, the coaching staff was elated over the fact that the Cadets came out of the game without a major injury.

The hospitalized list had grown to almost dangerous proportions during the pre-season practice sessions. The sprained ankle received by halfback George Kirschenbauer was all that the training department was concerned with following the 24 to 6 opening day win over Richmond.

Further relieving the stress is the return this week of Joe Blackgrove, the alternate quarterback. He inspired the Cadets in spring practice with his consistent long gainers. Blackgrove at that point looked like the finest field runner since Pete Dawkins held forth in 1958.

Yet To Score

The Terriers have failed to post a win over Army in seven previous starts. As a matter of fact, the boys from Boston have yet to register a score. They will be hard pressed to break the record on either count this week in view of their lethargic day setback against Buffalo.

Army scouts made praiseworthy notes on the size and strength of the Terrier linemen, and gave plaudits to the quarterbacking of Jack Farland. The overall lack of speed seemed to hinder the Boston offense, at least on opening day.

Coach Dale Hall is not planning to alter his starting alignment which has stood up remarkably since spring practice. The array which has remained intact are ends, John Ellerson and Paul Zmuida; tackles, Dale Kuhns and Chet Kempinski; guards, Captain Mike Casp and Barry Butzer; center, Mike Miller; quarterback, Dick Eckert; halfbacks, George Kirshenbauer and Pete King; and fullback, Al Rushatz.

Rushatz was named the outstanding back against Richmond, and Dick Nowak, sophomore guard, won linemen honors.

Koufax Smashes Mathewson Mark For Strikeouts

PHILADELPHIA (AP)— "Sure the record is nice but I'd rather win," said southpaw Sandy Koufax of the Los Angeles Dodgers Wednesday night after he established a new National League strikeout record for a single season but lost 2-1 to Philadelphia.

Koufax broke the record of 267, set by Christy Mathewson of the New York Giants in 1903, in the sixth inning when he struck out Pancho Herrera, wh o took a third called strike.

"I'm pleased (with the record) but I wish I'd stopped the two runs," said the 25-year-old Koufax later. "I know when he came up to bat I had a chance at the record but I didn't think about it until the third strike was called."

In all Koufax struck out seven batters to give him a new mark of 269. After getting Herrera, the sixth strikeout of the night, he fanned B.G. Smith in the eighth. The American League mark is 348 set by Bob Feller of Cleveland in 1946.

Koufax's 268 strikeouts came in only 253½ innings, his 269 strikeouts in 255 innings—the most he's worked in a single season in his seven-year career in the majors. Mathewson pitched 367 innings when he struck out 267 men in 1903.

Rochester, Minn.—Duane Horsman, Chatfield, Minn., knocked out T.J. Jones, Memphis, Tenn., 2.

Defense Buildup To Affect Three Grid Cardinals

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Three first-year players with the St. Louis Cardinals have been ordered to active duty with reserve units, bringing to five the number of front-line National Football League members affected by the U.S. defense buildup.

Ordered Wednesday to report at Ft. Chaffe,, Ark., by Oct. 29 were offensive end Taz Anderson, reserve offensive guard Bob Demarco, and offensive tackle Ernie McMillan.

Previously receiving orders were lineman Dick Schafrath of the Cleveland Browns and Lamar McHan, veteran quarterback now with the Baltimore Colts.

Schafrath, who is due to report early next month, still is with the Browns. McHan has received a "seasonal" deferment until the first of next year.

If and when the three called Wednesday leave for Army duty, they will be placed on the team's military reserve category and replaced on the active roster. The National Football League has no provisions at the present time to permit teams affected to carry extra players as a cushion against possible losses to the defense buildup.

Unanimous approval of all 14 teams would be required for an extra player provision and it was reported that an informal discussion of the possibility recently showed no unanimous consent between the league members.

Several key players in the rival American Football League also are affected.

Quarterback Jack Kemp and offensive tackle Ron Mix of the San Diego Chargers, currently unbeaten in the AFL, are in an Army reserve unit scheduled for activation in mid-October.

But Wednesday the commanding officer of the Army Reserve Center at Ft. Rosecrans, said Kemp was ruled "physically disqualified" because of a "chronic re-occuring separated shoulder joint."

NUMBER 60—New York Yankee slugger Roger Maris holds up the baseball he hit for his 60th home run this season in the third inning of a game with the Baltimore Orioles. Maris hit the home run off pitcher Jack Fisher to tie Babe Ruth in homers hit during a baseball season. But since the slugger hit the blast in the 158th game, it will count only as a record in a 162-game season according to Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick's ruling. Ruth got his 60 in a 154-game season, which was standard for most of the century until the American League expanded to 10 ball clubs this year. (NEA Telephoto)

Barry Hopkins Is First

Cardinal Farley Squad Defeats OCS Harriers

Barry Hopkins, a freshman runner continued a family tradition at Onteora Central School Wednesday by romping home first in the Indians' opening cross country meet of the fall season.

Coach Bernie Stahl's squad dropped a close decision to the Cardinal Farley Military Academy harriers, 26-29, but Hopkins' victory overshadowed the setback.

Hopkins was timed in 11 minutes, 19 seconds for the first run over Onteora's new two and one quarter mile layout. He finished 13 seconds ahead of Bill Galle, the Academy's veteran star. Bill Toriello placed third (11:39) for CFMA, while Pete Dolce and Ray Smith of Onteora were fourth and fifth, respectively.

Hopkins is the third member of his family to run in the Onteora spangles. He was preceded by two brothers, Bruce and Howard Hopkins.

All Newcomers

With the exception of Dolce, all the Onteora harriers were running in varsity competition for the first time. Dolce had limited experience in the 1960 season.

Rock Defense, Good Kicking Army's Weapon Against BU

WEST POINT, N. Y.—Army football adherents were cheered mostly by a staunch defensive effort and a brilliant kicking game, and these defensive measures figure again to play an important role in the Boston University game this Saturday.

While followers of the Black Knights had little else to cheer about, the coaching staff was elated over the fact that the Cadets came out of the game without a major injury.

The hospitalized list had grown to almost dangerous proportions during the pre-season practice sessions. The sprained ankle received by halfback George Kirschenbauer was all that the training department was concerned with following the 24 to 6 opening day win over Richmond.

Further relieving the stress is the return this week of Joe Blackgrove, the alternate quarterback. He inspired the Cadets in spring practice with his consistent long gainers. Blackgrove at that point looked like the finest field runner since Pete Dawkins held forth in 1958.

Yet To Score

The Terriers have failed to post a win over Army in seven previous starts. As a matter of fact, the boys from Boston have yet to register a score. They will be hard pressed to break the record on either count this week in view of their lethargic day setback against Buffalo.

Army scouts made praiseworthy notes on the size and strength of the Terrier linemen, and gave plaudits to the quarterbacking of Jack Farland. The overall lack of speed seemed to hinder the Boston offense, at least on opening day.

Coach Dale Hall is not planning to alter his starting alignment which has stood up remarkably since spring practice. The array which has remained intact are ends, John Ellerson and Paul Zmuida; tackles, Dale Kuhns and Chet Kempinski; guards, Captain Mike Casp and Barry Butzer; center, Mike Miller; quarterback, Dick Eckert; halfbacks, George Kirshenbauer and Pete King; and fullback, Al Rushatz.

Rushatz was named the outstanding back against Richmond, and Dick Nowak, sophomore guard, won linemen honors.

Koufax Smashes Mathewson Mark For Strikeouts

PHILADELPHIA (AP)— "Sure the record is nice but I'd rather win," said southpaw Sandy Koufax of the Los Angeles Dodgers Wednesday night after he established a new National League strikeout record for a single season but lost 2-1 to Philadelphia.

Koufax broke the record of 267, set by Christy Mathewson of the New York Giants in 1903, in the sixth inning when he struck out Pancho Herrera, wh o took a third called strike.

"I'm pleased (with the record) but I wish I'd stopped the two runs," said the 25-year-old Koufax later. "I know when he came up to bat I had a chance at the record but I didn't think about it until the third strike was called."

In all Koufax struck out seven batters to give him a new mark of 269. After getting Herrera, the sixth strikeout of the night, he fanned B.G. Smith in the eighth. The American League mark is 348 set by Bob Feller of Cleveland in 1946.

Koufax's 268 strikeouts came in only 253½ innings, his 269 strikeouts in 255 innings—the most he's worked in a single season in his seven-year career in the majors. Mathewson pitched 367 innings when he struck out 267 men in 1903.

Rochester, Minn.—Duane Horsman, Chatfield, Minn., knocked out T.J. Jones, Memphis, Tenn., 2.

Defense Buildup To Affect Three Grid Cardinals

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Three first-year players with the St. Louis Cardinals have been ordered to active duty with reserve units, bringing to five the number of front-line National Football League members affected by the U.S. defense buildup.

Ordered Wednesday to report at Ft. Chaffe,, Ark., by Oct. 29 were offensive end Taz Anderson, reserve offensive guard Bob Demarco, and offensive tackle Ernie McMillan.

Previously receiving orders were lineman Dick Schafrath of the Cleveland Browns and Lamar McHan, veteran quarterback now with the Baltimore Colts.

Schafrath, who is due to report early next month, still is with the Browns. McHan has received a "seasonal" deferment until the first of next year.

If and when the three called Wednesday leave for Army duty, they will be placed on the team's military reserve category and replaced on the active roster. The National Football League has no provisions at the present time to permit teams affected to carry extra players as a cushion against possible losses to the defense buildup.

Unanimous approval of all 14 teams would be required for an extra player provision and it was reported that an informal discussion of the possibility recently showed no unanimous consent between the league members.

Several key players in the rival American Football League also are affected.

Quarterback Jack Kemp and offensive tackle Ron Mix of the San Diego Chargers, currently unbeaten in the AFL, are in an Army reserve unit scheduled for activation in mid-October.

But Wednesday the commanding officer of the Army Reserve Center at Ft. Rosecrans, said Kemp was ruled "physically disqualified" because of a "chronic re-occuring separated shoulder joint."

Pickup

By SHARON KAY RITCHIE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Pickup is as important in bowling as it is in a car.

If you don't pick up the ball properly, you con throw yourself out of gear before you even get started.

When I began bowling, one of the first things Jan Harman, winner of the Queens' Tournament, pointed out was how to avoid injury and prevent arm strain in this necessary prelude to rolling the ball.

"There are very few ways you can hurt yourself bowling," Jan said, "but the most common injury — and certainly a painful one—is having a return ball ram into your hand while you are picking up your ball."

To avoid this, pick up the ball by placing the hands on the outside of it, away from the line of balls on the rack. Pick up the ball with both hands. Support its weight on the left hand (if you are right-handed). With the weight on the non-bowling hand, you keep the action arm from tiring.

Make sure the ball you pick up is your own. People can be very sensitive about others using their property.

Bisons Clinch Title In Jr. World Series

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Off to a flashy start when the Junior World Series was begun 57 years ago, Buffalo won two straight. It wasn't until this year that the Bisons again had the title in their grasp.

Five times since that 1904 inaugural of the minor league World Series Buffalo has knocked at the door, but this year the Bisons finally made it with a four-game sweep over Louisville.

The International League representatives' rookie right-hander Paul Brown allowed Louisville only one scratchy hit in a 4-0 shutout Wednesday night that took the title.

Union City, N.J.—Tommy Alongi, 192, Passaic, N.J., stopped Attilio Tondo, 190, Suffern, N.Y., 4.

Best Rookie

Miss America Bowls

Pickup

By SHARON KAY RITCHIE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Pickup is as important in bowling as it is in a car.

If you don't pick up the ball properly, you con throw yourself out of gear before you even get started.

When I began bowling, one of the first things Jan Harman, winner of the Queens' Tournament, pointed out was how to avoid injury and prevent arm strain in this necessary prelude to rolling the ball.

"There are very few ways you can hurt yourself bowling," Jan said, "but the most common injury — and certainly a painful one—is having a return ball ram into your hand while you are picking up your ball."

To avoid this, pick up the ball by placing the hands on the outside of it, away from the line of balls on the rack. Pick up the ball with both hands. Support its weight on the left hand (if you are right-handed). With the weight on the non-bowling hand, you keep the action arm from tiring.

Make sure the ball you pick up is your own. People can be very sensitive about others using their property.

When you pick up the ball, take time to get set properly and comfortably before rolling it, but don't hold up the game by deliberating too long before starting the approach.

Bisons Clinch Title In Jr. World Series

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Off to a flashy start when the Junior World Series was begun 57 years ago, Buffalo won two straight. It wasn't until this year that the Bisons again had the title in their grasp.

Five times since that 1904 inaugural of the minor league World Series Buffalo has knocked at the door, but this year the Bisons finally made it with a four-game sweep over Louisville.

The International League representatives' rookie right-hander Paul Brown allowed Louisville only one scratchy hit in a 4-0 shutout Wednesday night that took the title.

Union City, N.J.—Tommy Alongi, 192, Passaic, N.J., stopped Attilio Tondo, 190, Suffern, N.Y., 4.

Best Rookie

NEW YORK (AP)—Tom Tresh, son of former Chicago White Sox catcher Mike Tresh and now with the New York Yankees, is the International League's rookie-of-the-year for 1961. Selection of the 23-year-old Richmond shortstop was announced today.

HIGHLIGHTS: COMPACT MERCURY COMET. Talk value and you're talking Mercury COMET. It's the compact with the extras that make the difference. Take beauty. This is the only compact with fine-car styling. You get extra room plus a smoother ride (up to 7.5-inch longer wheelbase than other compacts). Extra trunk space for as many as six extra suitcases. Extra savings on oil and upkeep. This year you can drive 6,000 miles between oil changes. A new type anti-freeze, anti-rust coolant lasts two years or 30,000 miles. Extra resale value, too (best record of any compact). The price? With or below most compacts.
HIGHLIGHTS: BIG, LUXURIOUS MERCURY MONTEREY. This is Mercury's finest car. The very top of the line. It is specially built for the big-car man—with those big extra values a man likes. More room than other cars near its price—for long legs and big families. An extra-long wheelbase (120") for that solid, luxury-car "feel." A smoother, quieter ride—the result of exclusive Cushion-Link Suspension. A wide engine choice—"6" or three V-8's. Plus the kind of savings that really cut upkeep. Routine service is needed only twice a year (at 6,000- to 30,000-mile intervals)! The price? Well within the popular-price range.
